D'ANNUNZIO NOW MASTER

FLUME, Sunday, Nov. 16. (By Associated Press.)—Gabriele d'Annunzio's latest exploit appears to have made him master of the entire Dalmatian coast. It secured the adherence to his side, it has developed, of Admiral Millo, commander of the Italian occupation forces in Dalmatia, thus giving d'Annunzio a continuous command from the Austro-Italian armistice line, north of Fiume, southward to Ragusa, just to the north of Cattinjo, covering all the approaches to the Dalmatian coast.

Four warships, including a dreadnaught and four torpedo boat destroyers, also have been added to the d'Annunzio naval command, giving him a formidable weapon with which to maintain his present position.

THE CITY PRIMARIES

Polls to Open at Noon Tomorrow and Close at 8 p. m.—Big Vote Urged

Lowell voters will go to the polls tomorrow to nominate two candidates for mayor, four for aldermen and four for the school committee, each to serve for two years unless there is a change in the present form of charter in 1921.

The polls will open at 12 o'clock noon. They will close at 8 o'clock in the evening. The impression had gotten around that 8 o'clock was the closing hour but according to the order passed by the municipal council calling the voters together for the primaries, the polls will close promptly at 8 o'clock. Returns should be available a few hours later.

Although there will be nominated two candidates for mayor, each voter

COAL POCKET FIRE

Employees of the public property department are clearing away the charred timbers resulting from the recent fire in the coal pocket of the Chelmsford S. & Hospital. Commissioner Marchand plans to have a concrete wall erected between the coal pocket and adjoining parts of the building so as to confine any more fires that may break out there to the pocket.

STATE OFFICERS HERE LOOKING FOR "REDS"

State Police Officer Michael Barrett and Officer Fred Murray of the assistant general's office in Boston made a flying trip to Lowell late this afternoon in search of two men alleged to be "reds." They left the station shortly after 3 o'clock in company with Supt. Welch, Lieut. Petrie and Inspector Walsh.

SUGAR SHORTAGE VERY ACUTE HERE

When the Lowell fair price committee goes to Boston on Wednesday to confer with the legislative committee on the necessities of life, this city will be in the midst of the most acute sugar shortage experienced since that commodity became scarce. Today the local situation has never been so strained; practically no sugar is to be had even through the medium of sugar purchases and no relief is in sight.

Despite the efforts to keep away from a pessimistic viewpoint, the continued shortage has given rise to a most general resignation to the fact that people will have to get along without it. One of the things Warren P. Riordan, sealer of weights and measures, will attempt to settle on Wednesday is the point that he benighted when a car of sugar is to be shipped here that he may have the opportunity to look after its proper distribution.

Although the fair price committee does not entertain high hopes of accomplishing anything which will lead to instant relief in the city, it will endeavor to secure an investment of more power in the city sealer of weights and measures.

BACHELOR PARTY

Lavare (Larry) Boule, who on next Wednesday will be married to Miss Virginia Payette, was tendered a bachelor party at Club Cityzens-Americans in Middle street Saturday evening. The affair was attended by about 100 young men, who extended their best wishes to the benighted-to-be. In the early part of the evening he was presented a purse of gold, the presentation address being delivered by a brother of the bride-to-be, Mr. Louis Payette. Later vocal and instrumental selections were given and a general good time followed. A buffet luncheon was served.

Wilson Will Pocket Treaty if Lodge Reservations Are Accepted by Senate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—President Wilson will pocket the peace treaty, if it contains the Lodge reservations, he told Senator Hitchcock at a conference today at the White House.

"The president had read and considered the Lodge reservations," Senator Hitchcock said, "and he considers them a nullification of the treaty and utterly impossible."

The program outlined by Senator Hitchcock after he had seen President Wilson last week, will be carried through in the senate, Mr. Hitchcock said. This contemplated defeat of the ratification resolution with the Lodge reservations attached and the offering of a resolution for ratification without reservations. With the defeat of this resolution a deadlock would follow and a compromise would be sought.

Senator Hitchcock, was with the president for an hour.

"I find the president is very much improved since I saw him last," the senator said on leaving the White House. "He looks better, talks better and is much more aggressive. I find that he has read and considered the Lodge resolutions and that he considers them a nullification of the treaty and utterly impossible."

TODAY'S SUPERIOR COURT SESSIONS

When the civil session of the superior court re-opened this morning the case of Maurice E. Harris vs. the Insurance Company of the State of Pennsylvania went to trial. This is an action of contract by which the plaintiff seeks to recover the sum of $150.00, which he claims is due him on a fire insurance policy. Bennett Silverblatt for the plaintiff and Brown & Cane for the defendant company.

Jury Waived Session

The civil session of the superior court without juries opened at the local court house this morning for the November sitting with Justice King of Springfield on the bench. The list of cases was called and several motions were heard. The court will sit in Lowell until after Thanksgiving day and it is probable that next week divorce cases will be taken up.

CHARGED WITH FELONIOUS ASSAULT

Charged with felonious assault on a Chelmsford young woman, Daniel H. Light of Chelmsford pleaded not guilty in police court today and was held in $1000 for hearing Nov. 25. The date of the alleged assault is given as June 1 of the present year.

SUPREME COURT RECESS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The supreme court will take a recess next Monday until Dec. 5.

THANKSGIVING TURKEYS ARE ON THE WAY

Thanksgiving turkeys will go on sale in Lowell on Thursday or Friday of this week. They will open up at about the same price they sold for last year and there will be few cold storage birds on the market. Thus does William A. Keirstead, manager of the Lowell branch of Armour & Co., sum up the prospects for one of the salient features of the city's 1919 Thanksgiving observance.

Last year the first turkeys were sold at from 43 to 45 cents per pound. Mr. Keirstead expects this year's sale to start at 45 cents a pound and if the local shipment consists entirely of fresh turkeys the price may mount as high as 45 or 50 cents a pound.

Owing to the fact that the cold storage market was pretty well cleaned out at Thanksgiving and Christmas last year when people were in a jubilant mood because of the recent ending of the world war and the return of many of the service men, and were willing to "go the limit" in making the holidays happy affairs, there are not so many cold storage products on hand this year as in previous years. Another reason for the dearth of frigid

For MAYOR JAMES E. O'DONNELL

If you would nominate a man who is able, straight and fearless vote for Hon. James E. O'Donnell at the primaries tomorrow. He has had the experience and is qualified in every way for the office of mayor. He made many enemies during his terms as mayor because of his courageous and honest administration and the stand that he took against corrupt and dishonest interests. The men whom he fought at that time are leaving no stone unturned to bring about his defeat at the polls tomorrow. Repudiate them by casting your ballot for O'Donnell, and thereby nominate a man who can be elected. Mr. O'Donnell has had wide experience in municipal affairs and has been a close student of everything that pertains to good city government. Polls open from noon till 8 o'clock.

—FOR—
MAYOR

THE TIME HAS COME TO RETIRE THE PERPETUAL CANDIDATES AND GRAFTING POLITICIANS.

Give a real man a chance to rise in Lowell.

Just common sense and honesty are needed to serve you at City Hall.

The ability to throw oratorical MUD and make slanderous charges makes a poor platform on which to stand. That is the kind of thing that has put our city in its present condition.

FIGHTING IN AND OUT OF CITY HALL MUST STOP.

John J. Donovan has always shown himself a man.

"Give me a chance here in my HOME TOWN and I will serve you faithfully and well," says Mr. Donovan.

For MAYOR PERRY D. Thompson A WARNING

My opponents graciously concede my nomination at the Primaries tomorrow. However, it takes VOTES to secure a nomination.

You, my friends and fellow-citizens, who believe in me and in my public service, I earnestly ask to be SURE and ATTEND the Primaries.

Do not remain away from the polls by taking it for granted that I will win.

Make it SURE by your ATTENDANCE and your VOTE.

MOTORCYCLIST IS SERIOUSLY INJURED

As a result of a collision between a motorcycle and an automobile truck in Gorham street Saturday night, Robert Whalen of 253 High street is at St. John's hospital suffering from a fractured skull and concussion of the brain and his condition is very serious.

As far as could be learned Whalen was driving a motorcycle owned by Roy Merrill of 92 Carlisle street and seated in the sidecar was Mrs. Merrill. At a point in Gorham street just beyond the East Chelmsford line the cycle crashed into an automobile truck operated by Nathan Frulder of the Hotel Edward of Boston. Whalen was rushed to the hospital shortly after the accident. Mrs. Merrill was injured.

WILL DISCUSS

JITNEY QUESTION

For the purpose of discussing the acceptance of the so-called jitney act meetings of the citizens of Chelmsford will be held Wednesday evening in the lower town hall and Thursday evening in the hall at the Centre village. These meetings will be a sort of preliminary to the town meeting, which is scheduled for next Monday evening at the Centre town hall. It is expected that representatives of the railway company will be present at both meetings and that considerable discussion will take place, for many are not in favor of adopting the act, but believe that other means such as a reduction of fares and through car service should be taken in an endeavor to discourage jitney riding.

Minor Clashes in Steel Strike Zone

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Nov. 17.—Minor clashes between striking steel workers and mill workers, took place this morning. It was estimated 6000 men were in the streets near the mill gates. A number of the men were injured and three were removed to a hospital. Pickets had nearly disappeared about the steel plants last week, but were out in force today and for the first time since the steel strike began, the union organizers themselves were in charge. Production increased somewhat today, mill officials said.

Four Killed on Grade Crossing

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—Four Hog Island shipyard workmen were killed and seven others injured today when a motor truck on which they were riding to work, was struck by a train at a grade crossing. The accident was due to the heaviest fog experienced here in many years. On the Delaware river, two ferryboats collided in mid-stream, and a third ferryboat crashed into a tramp steamship lying at anchor. No serious damage resulted from either collision.

Reactionaries Control Germany

COPENHAGEN, Sunday, Nov. 16.—Philipp Seibendemann, former German chancellor, writing in the Voerwarts, says he considers that Germany is really in the power of reactionaries. "The entire army," he writes, "seems to be at the disposal of the reactionaries. Unity of the working classes has become a bounded duty."

Ex-Service Men Raid Meeting of Radicals

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 17.—A party of 100 citizens, composed mostly of former service men, raided a meeting of 300 alleged radicals at a Lithuanian hall here last night, breaking up the assembly and confiscating a red flag bearing a Russian inscription. The meeting was called by the Communist party.

Rev. Jones I. Corrigan, S. J.,
Addresses League of Catholic Women

"The Church and the Social Crisis," Topic of Interesting Discourse

Rev. Jones I. Corrigan, S. J., a member of the faculty of Boston college, addressed members of the League of Catholic Women at the regular monthly meeting in Lincoln hall yesterday afternoon on the topic: "The Church and the Social Crisis." and gave a very enlightening outline of the industrial and economic difficulties which are facing the world today.

Rev. Fr. Corrigan, S. J., traced the genesis of the present trouble to the end of the 15th century when an industrial revolution occurred. He said the only hope of America today is in the moderate groups in both capital and labor.

The league orchestra made its first appearance yesterday and gave distinct pleasure to the large audience present. The members of the orchestra are:

Miss Marie J. C. O'Donnell, director; Misses Mariette Brunello, Lillian Sullivan, Blanche Walsh, Angela O'Brien, Irene Lawler, Madeline Sullivan, Katherine Burke, Rose Hanlon, Mary M.
O'Hearn, Margaret Loftus, Mary E.
Leary, Grace McEvoy, Gertrude Regan,
Blanche Kelley, Margaret Kelley,
Grace Donohue, Estelle Coffey, Sadie
Smith.

Miss Alice T. Lee, president of the league, stated that it had been deemed advisable to secure a room for the headquarters of the organization (to be used as a meeting place and office for the transaction of business. The executive board had met earlier in the week to formulate plans for securing such a place. Mrs. Henry L. Bourke and Mrs. Allan were appointed at that time to look after furnishings and to secure funds. A whilst party in St. Patrick's hall, Monday, Nov. 24, will be one of the affairs designed to assist in securing funds.

Fr. Corrigan's Address

After the business meeting, Miss Lee introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Rev. Fr. Corrigan, S. J., who addressed the league in part as follows:

I come to you to speak this afternoon on "The Church and the Social Crisis." I want to outline to you as best I can some of the difficulties that we have to face in the economic and industrial world today. I want to try to point out some of the principles on which these difficulties must be solved if there is to be a solution.

As we look over the world today, especially the European world, what do we see? The world after the war is very much like a man who is just coming out of a strong and deep fever. The world is lying weak and prostrate. It has gone through a terrible experience. Four years ago a half of war have left the peoples of the world in a fever of unrest, and especially in the European world. In this difficulty found. The people over there are in great distress. Europe is in chaos and it is a great doubt in the mind of thinking men just what the outcome is going to be. What are the difficulties that the European peoples have got to face? They have first of all a greatly impaired morale. Most of the people in all those countries under the terrible sufferings of the war of four and a half years have lost great deal of their physical and moral courage. They have lost all self reliance and that independence of spirit that is necessary for any people, if they are to maintain civil order.

The greatly impaired morale is found in the European countries and that extends in large measure to the spread of Bolshevik principles. They came just at a time when the seed ground was ready for the seeds of revolution and anarchy and they have made already great use of their principles. These radical agitators have spread distrust throughout the countries of Europe.

Shortage of Food
One of the greatest difficulties of Europe is the great shortage of food.
The great wheat fields of Russia possibly are out of counting because of the devastation of war.

There is also a shortage of raw materials, such as cotton, wool, steel and copper. Therefore without these raw materials, the great industries and factories of Europe are idle, with the result that the people have no opportunity to employ themselves, so that on account of that they are facing great distress.

Then their system of transportation
—the great railroads have been disorganized because of the strain of a 4½ years war. There was no opportunity to repair them, so the great transportation system on which the prosperity of all these things depends has been disorganized, and it will take a long time to repair it to put it on anywhere near like its former basis.

They turn to the United States, and the remarkable thing is that we have everything that Europe needs. America is facing today the greatest economic and industrial opportunity in its history. We have everything that Europe needs; we have plenty of food, according to Mr. Hoover, if only the hoarding will stop; we have cotton, wool, steel and copper; we have transportation, we have raw materials ready to send abroad. What do you find here in the United States in the face of this opportunity? We find here the grave condition of industrial unrest.

The Social Crisis

I say that the social crisis in the United States is a fact; if you want to prove it all you have to do is to think for a moment of the number of strikes that have taken place in our country since the beginning of this year. Let me read them to you:

In January of this year there were in the United States 105 strikes; in February, 169; in March, 102; in April, 134; in May, 219; in June, 245 and in July 364 and in August 308. That was before the serious steel strike and consequently before the very serious coal strike that has been threatened in the last two weeks.

Thus the United States is in great danger and because of this danger the president called an industrial conference in Washington that had such sad results. He called together groups representing capital and groups representing labor and a group representing the public and because of fundamental disputes the conference went on the rocks and nothing was accomplished towards a solution of this very grave condition that faces the country at large.

Now as we look over the world what do we observe? If you visualize the situation, you will find on the one side that there are extreme capitalists who may fairly be termed plutocrats. On the other side you have in the labor part of the difficulties, radical men who want exorbitant conditions and are holding out for impossible demands. You have extremists on both sides. Among the plutocrats you have a small coterie of men who are seeking power and are striving after autocratic control. There is without doubt in this country an invisible government

nounced effects of that superlative on the part of these few men. Itemenber when I speak of those plutocrats I am in no sense speaking of rich men as such, because I am well aware that there are very many rich men who are just as anxious to bring industrial justice to all parties as the best minds on the side of labor or capital, but when I speak of those plutocrats I am speaking of that little band of men who have, through their wealth and their manipulations of legislation endeavored to get that autocratic control over the economic freedom of the country.

"You have a little band of men who dictate in large measure what laws shall govern us, what food shall nourish us and what clothing shall cover us; in fact, our political freedom and our political democracy are threatened by an autocratic sub-government on the part of these men, because what is our freedom if we are under the dictation of men who through economic control can say how far our freedom shall be exercised? They are a very dangerous little band and they need curbing if the democratic principles of our government are to be maintained.
You cannot have democracy if you have class rule, whether of capital or of labor.

On the Labor Side

You have on the labor side extemplists, radical agitators, who are going about the country and are striving to stir up discord and disaffection in the laboring element, through working bands. These radical agitators are striving to get the laboring men, the workers and the toilers, to break away from conservative methods and follow a false gospel.

The worst enemy that capital has is the little forces of men in their own group, who are ready to crush labor back to where it was 30 or 40 years ago. These men will bring about a serious condition in the economic life of our country unless they are curbed.
The worse enemy that labor has is the radical agitator in its own ranks.
These agitators are ready to put into execution the principles that wrecked Russia and will bring a condition into the United States that will closely resemble Russia's revolution. Both these classes are dangerous and need curbing at the hands of the government. The only hope of America is in the moderate groups in both capital and labor—moderate capitalists, who are ready to give labor a square deal, and the men in the labor groups who are ready to give capital a square deal.
Through them we can hope for the successful solution of the serious condition which faces our country today.

But you ask, where does this unrest come from? What are the sources of it? About 125 years ago at the end of the 15th century occurred what was known as the industrial revolution. It was at that time steam with its wonderful power was discovered. Then machinery was invented and steam power applied. The great factory system was developed. Before then each man had worked mostly in his home using the tools at his command. Later, in order to cut down expenses, laborers worked long hours.

The Socialistic Party

Then a great reaction set in. The socialistic party sprang up all over Europe. It went on the principles of Owen, LeBlanc and Karl Marx of Germany. Socialists said this condition was wrong, and it was. They said the cause of this condition was the system of private ownership and that is where they were wrong.

The reason and cause of the distress was the abuse of that system. So they went on until in the year 1901 the great Pope Leo XIII, seeing the condition in which the working classes were living, issued his wonderful encyclical to all the world. He told both classes that something was done and that quickly there would be a worldwide revolution. It was the same with the countries of Europe.

Pope Leo said: "You are arming one against the other. You are bringing an inevitable war and unless you stop this army, one against the other, you will precipitate a worldwide war." He told capitalists, "unless you be just to labor; unless you give the workman a few returns which he has a right to, a natural justice for his labor, you will precipitate an industrial war and you will involve all the nations of the world."

They left the church and the principles of Christ out of their calculations

AT ST. JOSEPH'S

COLLEGE HALL

A large attendance greeted the artists who took part in the concert held last evening in St. Joseph's college hall in Merrimack street, which was a sort of testimonial for Prof. Oliver C. Bis-son, known as the dean of musicians of Lowell. The affair had been organized under the direction of Prof. L. N.
Guthrie and was a real treat for lovers of good music, while the receipts of the evening were very substantial.

Prof. Philippe O. Bergeron presided over the evening's program and those who elated the audience with instrumental and vocal selections were Prof.
Marshall St. George, teacher of violin, graduate of the Academy of Music of Quebec; Miss Katherine V. Hennessey, a favorite soprano; Miss Anna Martel,
another soprano of wide reputation;
Prof. Frederick G. Bond, a noted baritone; Mr. Eugene Guthrie, an accomplished pianist; Mr. George Hebert, a pleasing tenor, and Mr. J. B. Amedee Lebrun, the well known cornetist. Miss Georgiana Desrosiers was the accompanist of the evening.

The concert was given under the patronage of Mrs. Henri Achin, Jr., Mrs. Amedee Archambault, Mrs. Louise
Legare, Mrs. Joseph Maria and Mrs.
George E. Mongeau. The ushers were Messrs. William Biledeau and Lucien Tetreault.

BIG DANCING CONTEST TOMORROW NIGHT

The stage is all set for the opening of the big dancing contest for $200 in prizes and to determine the championship of the Merrimack Valley at Associate hall tomorrow night. Contestants, including the leading dancers of Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill and other places, are to appear.

The bringing together of the leading dancers in this section entailed considerable work and expense, but the managers of the affair feel that their efforts will be crowned with success. This will mark the first time that such a mammoth event has been held here, and the interest being evidenced throughout this city and the surrounding towns indicates that large crowds will turn out to watch the terpsichorean artists perform.

At tomorrow night's affair the winning couple will be presented $10, while the couples finishing second and third will be eligible for competition a week from tomorrow night. The contest will run for four weeks.

Preliminary events will be held tomorrow night and the two succeeding Tuesday nights, with the grand finale on Tuesday evening, Dec. 5. Ten dollars will be awarded each of the first three nights and the remainder of the $200 will be distributed on the final night.

The contest is open to all, and entrants may send in their names any day or appear at Associate hall on the night of the dance and register their names. Miner-Doyle's orchestra will furnish music and Barney Moran will sing.

Primary returns will be announced during the evening.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come:

THE STRAND

Of D. W. Griffith's latest picture production, "Broken Blossoms" which is to be shown on The Strand screen the first three days of this week, Charles Hanson Towne, editor of McClure's magazine, says: "I have never cared for motion pictures. So many of them are cheap and lawless, and the stories seem to have so little relation to life as it is. But the other day I went to see 'Broken Blossoms' and I stand converted. If stories can be told in this wonderful way upon the screen, then a new art has indeed arrived—an art as important as that of poetry and music." This really remarkable picture story will be shown at our usual prices. Boston and New York patrons paid 25 cents to see the same offering. Don't miss it.

The other feature for the first part of the week will be Harry More's latest picture, "In Honor's Web," proclaimed one of his best efforts. The usual high-grade comedy and weekly will also be shown on the screen and there will be other superior contributions.

OPERA HOUSE

Following on the heels of John Meehan's great stage success of the week, the Lowell Players will present for the coming attraction at the Opera House, Fred Johnson's big stage success, "The Naughty Wife," a farce comedy in three parts that is said to be one of the real prizes of the present-day stage. It has scored triumphs in every theatre centre where it has appeared, and will unquestionably rank with the best offerings by the Players this season. The play is based on an interrupted elopement between a young, neglected wife and a rather blunt philanderer. When the husband, an author, whose novels always possess a happy ending, discovers the plan he does an unconventional thing. He accepts the arrangements complacently, aids his wife in packing her trunk and insists that the honeymoon be spent in his romantically situated bungalow in Long Island. This starts a series of complications and laughable situations that carry the piece along on one continuous round of humor that serves well its purpose. In the end the domestic harmony is recovered and the philanderer forms a new alliance with his old sweetheart and things give promise of a happy and satisfactory future.

With such an amusing vehicle of entertainment in their hands the Players are sure of giving genuine satisfaction to the patrons. Miss Marguerite Fields, the charming leading woman of the company, will appear in the role of the "naughty wife" and should create favorable comment from all sides. Miss Fields has demonstrated her skill in comedy parts in the past, and her new endeavor should fit her capabilities along these lines to perfection. John Meehan and Hal Crane will also carry a goodly share of the burden and their efforts will surely give general satisfaction, while the remainder of the supporting cast will be found in congenial roles. J. Francis Kirk will stage the piece and he promises one of the cleverest productions of his local engagement, which means much when some of his past endeavors are taken into consideration. Tel. 261 and have your tickets reserved. Don't wait. Better still have your name placed on the subscription list.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION

Governor Gets Letter Urging
That Members of Commission be Re-appointed

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—The Massachusetts highway association, composed largely of highway officials in the principal cities and towns of the commonwealth, has sent to Governor Coolidge a letter signed by more than fifty of its members including practically all of the past presidents urging that the present members of the Massachusetts highway commission be re-appointed to the new department of public works which is to take over the duties of the present highway commission and the commission on waterways and public lands.

The letter points out that there has been no change in the personnel of the highway commission during the past seven years, and as a result of this continuous contact with highway problems the members of the commission have become especially qualified to carry on the work which has been entrusted to them. During their term of office the system of state highways in Massachusetts has been developed to such a degree of excellence that it is generally acknowledged to be the finest in the United States, and it is conceded by automobile authorities that the Massachusetts commission's administration of automobile laws is far ahead of every other state in the country.

The highway commission has handled more than $35,000,000 of public funds, without the slightest allegation from any source that even a penny of this vast amount has been misappropriated.

Among the signers of the letter are

THE INDUSTRIAL
ACCIDENT LAW

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 17.—A bill to be considered by the coming session of the legislature, filed with the clerk of the house today, provides for larger compensation to injured workmen under the operation of the industrial accident law.

The measure, which was introduced by Representative Edward F. Harrington of Fall River, would extend the provisions of the present statutes by which workmen's compensation payments would be made in those accidents in which the victim is incapacitated for but a short time.

At present the law stipulates that no compensation shall be allowed in those cases where the wage-earner is incapacitated for ten days or less, payments starting from the 11th day after the actual injury. If a man suffers an injury which lays him up a week or so, therefore, he is not entitled to the payments.

Under the terms of the measure introduced today, the payment would start from the date of injury if the workman is incapacitated for a period of at least seven days, or three days less than under the present law. If this measure is rejected by the legislature Representative Harrington proposes to make a fight on another providing that compensation shall begin after seven days of the date of injury, if the person injured has been incapacitated for a week or more. This is a compromise measure.

Much room for improvement in the workmen's compensation law as it now stands exists, says Mr. Harrington. "In every city and town in the state in which the larger part of the people work in mills and factories there are constantly developing cases in which hard working men and women are thrown out of their employment and receive nothing in return," he added. "To one who has plenty of money this does not appear extremely important, that is, the loss of a few weeks' employment, but to the working man with a large family to support and who has to stand the high cost of living from every angle the matter is one of the utmost gravity."

Many members of the legislature have already assured Mr. Harrington of support in his efforts to enact the legislation into law. HOYT.

Fine overcoat values

WHEN we sell an overcoat or suit, or anything else, the supposition is that it's a good thing for us. May be it is and may be it isn't. Depends on how good it is for our customer.. That's why we're so particular about what we sell.

You certainly hope to get good value when you buy your overcoat; you'll have to pay a pretty good price for it. It ought to be worth something to you to have a "line" on just what you are getting.

Hart Schaffner & Marx tell you plainly what they put into their goods—all-wool fabrics, thorough tailoring. Do you know of any other clothes that is true of? There may be others, but nobody seems to be saying so.

Let us show you the right overcoat now; we have it.

The fastest growing clothing store in Lowell

TURNED THE TABLES ON "JAKE" SELLER

The crusade against "Jake" selling, recently inaugurated by the Lowell police, bore fruit in police court today when Peter P. Vlahos, a Middlesex street storekeeper, pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor and paid a fine of $75. Vlahos is the first local merchant to answer to a charge of this kind in the Lowell court.

Vlahos was arrested in police court this morning by Deputy Downey following his appearance as complainant against John Reardon, charged with drunkenness. Vlahos said that Reardon had fallen through one of the windows in his store Saturday evening, and he hoped something could be done in the way of restitution for the damage.

Reardon admitted that he might have fallen through the window. He had been drunk, he said, and it was the "Jake" he had bought at Vlahos' store that had been the cause of his fall from the water wagon.

"I've spent $65 for Jake at his store in the past month, Your Honor," added Reardon.

Whereupon Deputy Downey announced that a warrant had been issued for Vlahos on a charge of unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor, and immediately placed him under arrest.

Vlahos pleaded guilty to the charge and Officer Winn took the stand.

In company with Officer Cooney, he had visited Vlahos' store early last evening, he said. Vlahos had sold Officer Cooney a bottle of Jamaica ginger and a bottle of tonic. Vlahos had told them they might drink the combination in the store, he testified.

The price of the Jamaica ginger, which was sold in a four ounce bottle, was 30 cents, Officer Winn said.

Later in the evening Officers Moore, Cooney and he had searched the store and found several bottles of Jamaica ginger, he said. Vlahos had admitted selling the ginger and tonic for beverage purposes, he declared.

The arrest and disposal of Vlahos' case consumed less than five minutes.

The case of Reardon was placed on file.

Thanksgiving Turkeys

goods is the publicity which has been given the government's campaign against hoarding. This has served to induce many cold storage firms to put their product on the market during the year, rather than hold off until the holiday season. Although the so-called "hoarding" was perfectly legitimate in the majority of instances, according to Mr. Keirstead, the firms thought it better business tactics to dispose of part of their stock before the advent of Thanksgiving.

"There will be plenty of turkeys in Lowell for everybody who wants one," said Mr. Keirstead in discussing the subject. "I anticipate a better quality turkey than has come to Lowell in previous years owing to the small number of cold storage products that will be on the market. The price should open up about the same as last year, say 45 cents per pound, and if we get a lot of fresh turkeys, it may run as high as 45 or 50 cents.

The price question, of course, is governed by the law of supply and demand. The turkeys are being shipped to New York and Boston now and should arrive in these centers today or tomorrow. By Thursday or Friday they will be ready for the Lowell markets.

"When they get here they will go on sale at the prices I have mentioned. Then as the holiday draws near if the retail dealers find that they are not disposing of their stock as rapidly as they wish, they will lower the price a little. It all depends on how fast

the turkeys are sold after they arrive here."

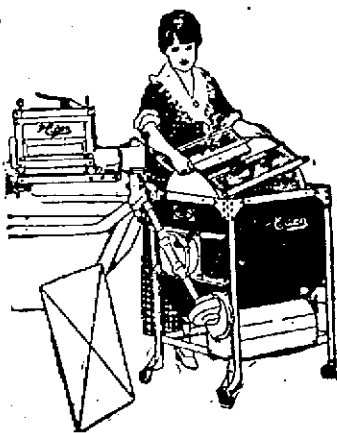

Mr. Keirstead said that the biggest part of Lowell's supply will come from Kentucky and Michigan, although other parts of the country, of course, send part of their output to this section.

As for the "fixing" to go with the turkey dinner, vegetables will be at about their usual prices for this time of the year, but the most serious problem confronting the housewife will be the sugar shortage. Cranberry sauce would be about the cheapest article of food on the market this year had it not been for the shortage of sugar. There are plenty of cranberries but little sweetening. Similarly, the sugar shortage will be reflected in the curtailment of the usual elaborate

STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETING

Members of the local board of trade, through its secretary, John J. O'Rourke, have received an invitation to be present at the annual meeting of the Massachusetts chamber of commerce to be held at the Hotel Vendome, Boston, Friday, Nov. 21, from 2 to 6.30 p.m. The afternoon session will be given over to the annual address of the president and reports from the various officers of the chamber.

The evening session will be in the form of a banquet and the speakers will include Governor Calvin Coolidge.

ANOTHER PORTABLE SCHOOL FINISHED

With the completion of a second portable school in the yard of the Morey grammar school in the Highlands, the children who have been doing their school work by flashlight in the basement of the main school building will have an opportunity to return to more normal surroundings next Wednesday when the portable school will be opened for occupancy, according to Commissioner George E. Marchand of the public property department.

The basement classroom has been in use at the Morey school for the past two years. Commissioner Marchand says, and both pupils and teacher will be glad of an opportunity to change.

NEWSPAPERS TO INCREASE RATES

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 17.—Three daily newspapers of New Orleans will increase subscription rates from 15 to 20 cents a week, according to announcements yesterday, because of the increased cost of white paper. The States and the Item, afternoon papers, will raise the street prices from two to three cents a copy. The Times-Picayune, afternoon newspaper, did not change the street price of five cents a copy.

WAS IN OLD COUNCIL

Michael J. Quinn, candidate for commissioner, was a member of the old common council in 1903 and 1904, a fact that was overlooked in the brief sketch of him printed in The Sun.

LOWELL MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION

The membership committee of the recently organized Lowell Merchants' association met at the board of trade rooms this morning to outline plans for an aggressive campaign to enroll new members. Letters have been sent to 150 local merchants, inviting them to become members, but up to the present time, only 35 have actually joined.

INSTALLING RADIATORS

Employees of the assessors' office will not be given the cold shoulder this winter despite the 125 tax rate, if Commissioner Marchand of the public property department can prevent it. The commissioner is having radiators installed in this office, one of the largest in city hall which has long been noted as being the coldest in winter.

RACE GROWS HOTTER IN POLO LEAGUE

With another week of the American Roller Polo league over the race for the pennant is now one of the most bitterly contested in the history of the game. A glance at the league standing will show all teams closely bunched with all still in the fight for the championship.

Lowell suffered considerably last week through the incapacity of Young Davies, who was just beginning to show class, when forced to play off result of an attack of cold. Slater and O'Brien were secured to fill in, but both were lost, owing to unfamiliarity with the Har-Kins-Griffith combination play.

The substitutions threw additional burdens on the other members of the team and while all worked in expert fashion, they were unable to hold off the opposition. But with the exception of the first game of the week, Lowell gave all opponents a stiff battle, forcing Fall River into overtime, and holding Lawrence to a two to one victory on last Friday night.

Lawrence showed much class last week and a continuation of the fast work is bound to bring the down river entry up the ladder. Fall River, New Bedford, Salem, Worcester and Providence also played good polo.

The Lowell-Lawrence game of last Friday night will be recorded in the league annals as one of the fastest, cleanest and most contested games of the season, and Sec. Perrin of the league was present to see the fun. He pronounced it one of the best he had ever seen. It was the kind of game that made friends and few of those who were in the big crowd present will soon forget the high class exhibition.

Lowell will have two classy combinations here this week. On Monday night Fred Jean and his Fall River "Tigers" the sensation of the league, will be here, while on Friday night, the Springfield Warriors, with "Bob" Hart, Lowell favorite, Barney Doherty, Paul Gardner, Mossie Conley and Jack Kehoe in the lineup will be with us.

POLO NOTES

Salem and Lawrence showed the way last week, each winning four and losing two games—Worcester, New Bedford and Providence broke even. Fall River won two out of six and Lowell one out of three.

Games this week:
Tonight—Lawrence at Providence; Worcester at Salem.
Tuesday—Fall River at Lowell; Providence at Lawrence; Salem at New Bedford.

Wednesday—Providence at Worcester; Lawrence at Fall River; New Bedford at Salem.

Thursday—No games scheduled.
Friday—New Bedford at Lowell; Worcester at Fall River.

Saturday—Lowell at Providence; Fall River at Lawrence; Salem at Worcester.

The league officials, as predicted, have upheld Referee Carroll in his forfeiture of last Tuesday's game to Lowell over Lawrence.

TWO TEAMS BATTLE FOR LEAGUE LEAD

The Spinning and Carpenter Shop quintets are tied for the leadership of the American Roller Polo league, with 25 points won and seven lost. Spinning has a long lead in total pinfall of about 250 pins. The standing follows:

	Won	Lost	Pinfall

BOXING BOUTS OF WEEK

Fine Bill for C. A. A. Thursday—Herman vs. Vatlin, Duffy vs. O'Brien

Three ten round bouts and one six round event have been arranged for next Thursday night's meeting of the Crescent A. A. and the card promises abundant action.

Pekin Kid Herman, who has been in Lowell for about a week in anticipation of bouts in this section, has been matched to meet Tony Vatlin, the "Ironman". This bout is attracting considerable attention. It will be Herman's first appearance in this city, and Martin Philbrick, who is looking after his interest here, says he is a speedy and hard hitting performer, who in his opinion is capable of giving Vatlin a real fight.

Vatlin's ability is well known here. He can always be depended upon to put up a satisfactory battle, and his recent victory over Chick Sugge, gave him a great boost.

Billy Duffy of Everett and Shaver O'Brien of South Boston, two rivals who have engaged in several thrilling battles, will appear in another ten round number. This should be a hummer. Johnny Downs and Johnny Gray, a pair of action performers, are also on the program for a ten round event. There will also be a preliminary.

Other Bouts
Tonight—Benny Leonard vs. Jimmy Duffy, Tulsa; Willie Jackson vs. Jake Schaffer, Buffalo; Harry Greb vs. K. O. Brown, Canton; O. THE INTERWORKS BOWLING LEAGUE

The Lowell and Manchester fives of the Interworks Bowling league rolled a spirited draw on the local alleys Saturday evening. A young woman's quintet, which accompanied the visitors, had little difficulty in hanging the Canadian sign on a team of local girls. Following the matches the party enjoyed a splendid supper at the Harrington hotel. The scores:

You'll realize pretty quick, too, that Camels are free from any unpleasant cigarette aftertaste or unpleasant cigar 'ty odor!

Once you know Camels you won't take much stock in premiums, coupons or gifts! You'll prefer Camel quality!

The Call'em

Brown 7, Dartmouth 6; Princeton 13, Yale 6; Syracuse 13, Colgate 6; Harvard 23, Tufts 0. Those were the scores which stand out prominently as the 1919 football season rose to its anti-climax Saturday. A mere glance at the figures produces a violent mental shock and from some standpoints an indisputable fact throughout hours of all-day passing a preponderance of "ifs."

In every athletic contest until time is no more that tricky little proposition "if" will raise hell. It is a relief to the defeated, who cling to it as they would clutch at a rope in deep water to save themselves from absolute and total immersion. All Dartmouth save today: "If Jim Robertson had been in there, our state still would be clean" and Yale looks back and sighs and says: "If that foolish lateral pass had not been attempted the Tiger would have bowed to the Bull Dog."

Stronger in Defeat

However, despite the knowledge of the fallacy of falling back upon "if" and knowing that whatever may be said now cannot alter the figures one fraction, Dartmouth men who watched their team lose to Brown at Harvard field, simply will not resign themselves to the belief that the better team won. The better eleven was defeated by the score, but not in actual play. Pretty well burned out after a scientific schedule, the eleven from Lawrence showed the effects of Pennsylvania hammering and the sun-baked toll paid for that victory could not be made up against the lucky game. But weakened as Spence's team was, it was infinitely stronger than the Bear, except in one department, kicking, and thereby hangs a fearful tale.

The Ace in the Hole

On the bench, his right foot stretched straight out ahead of him, a green blanket over his shoulders and a pair of crutches at his side, sat Jim Robertson, the man who could have won for Dartmouth Saturday. He would have swung the pendulum just as surely as the sun rises and sets again, but should endure mental pain along with his physical ills and the good right foot and booting toe which would have driven back the brown-jerseyed titans from Rhode Island and could do nothing but rich for the opportunity which was not to be. As a punter and a goal kicker, Robertson flashed like a comet for the first time this year. A football season rose to its anti-climax Saturday. A mere glance at the figures produces a violent mental shock and from some standpoints an indisputable fact throughout hours of all-day passing a preponderance of "ifs."

Forsaken by Miss Fortune

But, with Robertson out and Jordan but little use, the eleven waved high above the Brown in actual action. Dartmouth's substitute backs raised the Brown line to shreds and then turned about and stomped the latter's offense with a wall of steel. Then Robertson, who had been out for some time, came back and kicked a field goal which sealed victory, was kicked.

Every Advance Nullified
Earlier in the game Dartmouth crushed 70-odd yards through the Brown team to a score, but the touchdown was made at the extreme corner of the field and Cannell's punt out was missed. The Green faithful, like wild Indians to turn the tide, but fate twisted all efforts into Brown's hands. Penalties stopped swift travelling advances at the 15 and 20 yard marks, and the 7 to 6 score maintained to the bitter end. The better team made 6 points, the weaker, 7.

The Spirit of Years

In spite of the poor and awkward arrangement of seats for a football game at Brown's field the rival cheering sections rose to dizzy heights. The spirit was typical of any game Dartmouth plays. Undergraduates and alumni stuck to their team to the end and then rose and gave it their benediction. Hilarious Brown stood on the field and listened and then responded in kind. Complimentary cheers were given and the curtain was drawn until next year.

TEXTILE IN SLUMP LOSES TO TECHNOLOGY

Playing far below its usual standard and strength the Lowell Textile school football team avowedly lost to the Massachusetts Technology eleven on the local campus Saturday afternoon, by the score of 14 to 6. It did not appear that the Textile crew had given the same sufficient serious consideration or preparation and their play throughout was marked by an absence of fire and pep. The old punch was lacking, for on three different occasions the eleven worked the ball to a spot within the five-yard line, only to die out and surrender on downs.

Add Textile's natural strength to Lowell's listlessness and the outcome could not have been different. Scott at center for the Lowell team played a lot of tackle, but even he missed through. Lombard and Stevens were not up to snuff and that left both in the only local touchdown. Marker scored through on a short plunge after a forward pass. Stevens to Wentworth had carried the old egg 20-odd yards.

INDIANS 2ND WIN

The Indian second football eleven defeated the Cardinal club Sunday afternoon on the old Fair grounds by the score of 13 to 6. Both Indian scores came as the result of straight line plunging, while the Cardinal touchdown grew out of a recovered fumble.

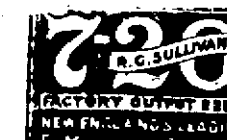

WOULD RACE NEGROES

J. Wells challenges A. L. Nebes to a one-mile race on the North common Thanksgiving day, under the auspices of the Red Wing club. Reply through this paper.

NEGROES AS CENSUS TAKERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Negroes will be engaged as federal census takers in sections where they form the largest element of the population for the first time in history. Arthur G. Dore, United States supervisor of census announced today. Preference will be given to negroes who were in the military service.

Mr. Dore said the representative negroes had informed him that there had never been an accurate counting of the negroes in this country. This is due, they complained, to the fact that white enumerators classified as "white" those negro men and women of light color.

Greet D'Annunzio on Return to Fiume

FIUME, Saturday, Nov. 15.—Gabriele d'Annunzio returned here this evening from his expedition to Zara on the Dalmatian coast. His arrival was the occasion for an enthusiastic demonstration.

D'Annunzio left the garrison at Zara commanded by an officer of his own staff with several hundred of his troops. D'Annunzio received a most cordial welcome at Zara. It is announced that d'Annunzio will occupy all of Istria which is being considered by the peace conference including the sections Foreign Minister Tittoni proposes shall comprise an independent state. Admiral Millo, Italian commander of the Dal-matian occupation forces, has gone over to the cause of Gabriele d'Annunzio, swearing complete loyalty to the poet and declaring that not one Italian soldier will leave soil included in the pact of London. Admiral Millo wrote to Premier Nitti informing him of his action. The premier replied: "I am not astonished at the latest d'Annunzio enter-prise. However, I am sorry for your action."

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS FIGHT BOLSHEVISM

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Demobilized in France by the army, 100 Americans from the aviation service, led by Colonel H. S. Howland of California, have volunteered with the Poles and are now on their way to fight the Bolshe-viki along the frontiers. This infor-mation was contained in a cable mes-sage received yesterday by William P. Larkin, overseas director of the Knights of Columbus. The news came from William J. Mulligan, chairman of the committee on war activities who is pre-paring to return to this country follow-ing several months of hard work sal-vaging "Casey" equipment.

"The Knights of Columbus can now go on record in their fight against the menace of Bolshevism," said Mr. Lar-kin, "by proudly announcing that the 100 men led by Col. Howland have been fully equipped for their work in Poland by the knights. We have supplied them with uniforms, shoes, socks, caps, blankets, leather jerkins, woolen wear and supplies. They have called them-selves 'The Casey Platoon'. When Mr. Mulligan found out that Col. Howland was going to fight with the brave Poles, he informed the American officer that the knights would attend to the business of equipping the outfit. Be-sides the clothing and shoes, we have sent enough cigars, tobacco, candy, chocolate and other gifts to last the men all through the winter months."

Mr. Mulligan in his message also stated that an old fashioned New Eng-land halloween dinner was served in the Knights of Columbus club in Paris for the remaining American soldiers and officers. On All Souls' day, he great church of St. Joseph in the French capital was the scene of a dis-tinguished gathering of clergy and laity upon the occasion of a solemn requiem mass celebrated for the sol-diers of the allied cause who died in battle.

WOMAN TAKES PART IN MAYORALTY CAMPAIGN

The entrance of woman into politics has been a subject of more or less discussion for the past few years, but not until last Saturday evening were male voters of Lowell given an opportunity for a real live exhibition of woman's part in a local mayoralty campaign.

It was at Bridge and Paige streets, about 9.45, when Former Mayor James E. O'Donnell was making his closing outdoor address of the evening that the feminine in Lowell politics became an actual vigorous reality. Mr. O'Donnell had been discussing local liquor dealers and told his large audience that he had not been given co-operation in the latter part of 1917 when he was trying to enforce the liquor laws so that soldiers from Camp Devens might be permitted to visit Lowell.

Just then an automobile drew up near where the candidate was speaking, a well-dressed woman stepped from it and in an angry mood made for the candidate's machine in which he was standing and gave indications of "meaning business" when Lieut. David Pettie and other members of the police department came upon the scene and succeeded in having her go on her way. Then Mr. O'Donnell continued his speech.

It was a great night for outdoor speeches and the candidates were heard by large crowds.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS
The county commissioners held their regular monthly meeting at the court house this morning. There were no hearings held but a group of lawyers requested the commissioners to install a telephone and booth in the record hall. The matter was taken in consideration.

Notice to Male and Female Voters

All persons claiming the right to vote at the coming city election, and desiring to be registered as voters are hereby notified to appear before the Board of Registrars of Voters to present evidence of their qualifications at the session to be held as follows, to wit:

At the room of the Board of Registrars of Voters in the basement of City Hall, Wednesday, Nov. 18th, from 12 o'clock (noon) to 10 o'clock. Women whose maiden names appear on the voting lists and who by marriage have changed their names should register.

HUGH C. MOSKIER, Chairman. J. OMER HALLARD, FRED HARRISON, STEPHEN LYNN, Clerk. Board of Registrars of Voters. Nov. 15, 1919.

I Respectfully Ask Your Support

At the close of this campaign, I can truthfully say I have tried to present to you my qualifications and my reasons for aspiring to the office of commissioner.

Charged with youth and inexperience, I submitted my record of 19 years, with Putnam & Son Co., attaining the managership.

I would remind my opponent also that Uncle Sam, in the trying days of his country, did not consider youth a barrier to the performance of public service.

Asserting, once again, that the perpetual candidate is a menace to good government I ask you to endorse as your policy, "The Open Door of Opportunity."

MAY I COUNT ON YOUR SUPPORT

JAMES E. DONNELLY

FOR Alderman

TO THE VOTERS OF LOWELL:

I desire to make a final request for your vote at the polls tomorrow for the office of ALDERMAN.

During my whole career in public life I have always stood for fair, upright and honest business dealing in the City's behalf. I can give assurance that the same quality of service rendered by me for the City in the past will mark my service in the future.

In all my public acts I was ever prompted by an honest purpose to do that which I believed to be the right; and it is with confidence that I say that no smirch or stain has marred my political career of my service to the people while in office.

At all times I have ever been ready to advance the best interests of my city and its people.

The time I have spent in the public service was devoted to the purpose of advancing the welfare of the people, and that service has qualified me by experience to render you a service that will be of benefit to the City.

JOHN J. GILBRIDE CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

TO THE VOTERS OF LOWELL:
As a candidate for the nomination for Mayor of my native city, for the past ten days, I have gone before the people to discuss matters of interest to the average citizen. All the other candidates for this office, except one, have done the same.

This perennial candidate, who has offered himself for mayor every year for twelve years when there has been a mayoralty election has devoted much of his public utterances to personal abuse and vilification of me. He has given no reason why he seeks, year after year, to hold the office of Mayor. He has offered no words of defense of his first administration, at the close of which he was driven from office by the largest adverse majority in the history of the city. He has offered no explanation why, under his administration, the city continually advanced closer to the debt limit and each year saw increased taxes.

He has given no reason why, during his four years at City Hall, he was in bitter antagonism to other members of the city government.

Instead, with rank unfairness, realizing that his own nomination is impossible and that mine is certain, he seeks to produce conditions to make my election impossible after I secure the nomination.

His personal attacks upon me have been utterly baseless and of a scandalous nature.

In the primaries two years ago I defeated this gentleman by over 400 votes and he has not forgotten it. With the support of fair-minded people of the city of Lowell, on Tuesday I will defeat him so decisively that he will be eliminated from the politics of the city, and in the years to come others besides this gentleman may aspire to public office in Lowell.

(Adv.) JOHN J. GILBRIDE, 9 Prospect Street, Lowell, Mass.

City Primaries

is entitled to vote for only one. If he votes for two mayoralty candidates his ballot will be thrown out. Similarly he must vote for only two aldermanic candidates and two candidates for the school committee. Women voters are entitled to vote only for school committee candidates.

The retiring officers this year are Mayor Perry D. Thompson, Commissioners James E. Donnelly and Charles J. Morse and Richard Brubrook Walsh and Dr. William B. Thompson, members of the school board. Messrs. Thompson, Donnelly and Morse are candidates for re-election. The retiring school board members are not.

The campaign preceding the primaries has been a brief but lively one, especially among the mayoralty aspirants. Mayor Thompson has not appeared on the stump, but John J. Donovan, John Gilbride, Hon. James E. O'Donnell and Jackson Palmer, the four other candidates, have all made a number of outdoor speeches and were on the job every noon and evening last week. On Saturday evening the largest crowds of the campaign gathered at city hall, Tower's corner and Bridge and Paige streets to hear the statements of the four aspirants.

Several of the aldermanic candidates have appeared on the stump but the majority of them have confined their efforts to personal interviews with the voters. There are ten candidates in this field.

The 12 school board candidates have also limited their efforts to personal solicitation in most instances.

The largest registration for a municipal primaries in the city's history has been enrolled this year, more than 17,000 residents being entitled to vote. It is expected that this unusually large registration will bring out a heavy vote. The mayoralty candidates have created a lot of interest during the past week and the advent of a number of new faces in the other contests will mean many supporters at the polls.

The list of candidates for various offices follows:

For mayor—John J. Donovan, John J. Gilbride, James E. O'Donnell, Jackson Palmer, Perry D. Thompson.

For alderman—George H. Brown, Daniel Cosgrove, John B. Curtin, Cornelius Desmond, Jr., James E. Donnelly, Charles J. Morse, Michael J. Quinn, John F. Salmon, Eugene F. Toomey, Francis A. Warnock.

For school committee—William H. Allen, Thomas B. Delaney, Raymond J. Lavalle, James E. Lyle, Charles E. MacKensie, James E. Markham, Parker F. Murphy, James H. Rooney, Jas. C. Warner, Fred C. Weld, George F. Wessen, Arthur F. Woodley.

Wilson Will Pocket Treaty if Lodge Reservations Are Accepted by Senate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—President Wilson will pocket the peace treaty, if it contains the Lodge reservations, he told Senator Hitchcock at a conference today at the White House.

"The president had read and considered the Lodge reservations," Senator Hitchcock said, "and he considers them values, in short, to do away with the staid and commonplace, the prefatory method and instead work into the instruction, live and vital issues."

The program outlined by Senator Hitchcock after he had seen President Wilson last week, will be carried through in the senate, Mr. Hitchcock said. "This contemplated defeat of the ratification resolution with the Lodge reservations attached and the offering of a resolution for ratification without reservations. With the defeat of this resolution a deadlock would follow and a compromise would be sought."

Senator Hitchcock was with the president for an hour. "I find the president is very much taken down stairs in wheel chair and rolled out on White House lawn."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—President Wilson was taken downstairs in a wheelchair today and rolled out on the White House lawn near the south porch, where he basked in the sunshine for a short time. This was the first time he had left the White House since his return from the western tour during which he was taken ill.

Those who saw the president said he seemed bright and cheerful and apparently was "full of fight" as the result of the senate action on the peace treaty.

Accused of promoting anarchy, Constanty Dobrowski and Felix Dobrowski, brothers, of 161 Lakeview avenue were arrested this afternoon by members of state and local police and later taken to Cambridge.

The arrests resulted from the finding of an anarchistic poster in the window of the shop conducted by the brothers on Lakeview avenue a short time ago. This poster depicted the body of a woman killed in recent labor troubles in Pennsylvania and urged its readers to "rise and avenge her."

It also urged them to stand together in the destruction of the capitalistic class.

The poster was found by Sgt. Dwyer and afterwards taken before the federal authorities in Boston by Supt. Welch. The superior court today issued a capias against the brothers on the charge of promoting anarchy following their indictment by the grand jury.

The officers who made the arrests were Michael Barrett of the state police, Fred Murray of the adjutant general's office, Supt. Welch, Lieut. Petrie and Inspector Walsh.

Interested Address at State Normal School by Chicago Man

"The Method of Experience" as applied to the school training of young boys and girls, was the subject of an address by Dr. James F. Hosie of the Chicago Normal college before the students of the Lowell Normal school and a number of invited teachers at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Dr. Hosie enjoys nation-wide prominence as a teacher of English and as a class organizer and in addition to his work at the Chicago college, also is secretary of the national council of English teachers, chairman of the national joint committee of thirty and editor of the English Journal, the magazine devoted entirely to the purposes of English instruction.

Dr. Hosie illuminated his address by a series of apt illustrations, in fact every point was broadened and explained in this manner, which obviated formality and placed his words more intimately before his listeners.

"The Method of Experience" in teaching is bringing real life into the classroom, training boys and girls in such a manner as to allow them the fullest possible participation in the affairs of the world and democracy; giving opportunity for foresight, initiative, appreciation and proper judgment of values, in short, to do away with the staid and commonplace, the prefatory method and instead work into the instruction, live and vital issues."

Dr. Hosie emphasized that teachers must so conduct classes as to give to the individual pupil a real joy at accomplishment. Present the idea or create the situation, allow him to consider the problem and prepare for its solution and allow a full expression of enthusiasm when success comes.

"Let children do things for themselves," he said, "don't do everything for them; that is but robbing them of their birthright."

At the close of the address the school rose and applauded as an expression of appreciation. At 3 o'clock Dr. Hosie, with Clarence D. Kingsley, state agent for high schools, conducted a conference of teachers and principals for the purpose of discussing the separation of the junior and senior high school, two phases of English teaching, what each phase should include and how the separation should be effected.

REPORT OF PURCHASE OF SUGAR MILL AND PLANTATION IN CUBA CONTINUED

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The American Sugar Refining Co. today continued the purchase of the Cumagua Sugar mill and plantation in Cuba. The property consists of 110,000 acres of land and a factory capable of producing 600,000 bags of sugar a year. The cane land is virtually virgin soil, having cleared of timber and opened only three years ago. The purchase price is said to have exceeded $10,000,000.

LOWELL PRIMARIES

Polls to Open at Noon Tomorrow and Close at 8 p. m.—Big Vote Urged

Lowell voters will go to the polls tomorrow to nominate two candidates for mayor, four for aldermen and four for the school committee, each to serve for two years unless there is a change in the present form of charter in 1921.

The polls will open at 12 o'clock noon. They will close at 8 o'clock in the evening. The impression had gotten round that 9 o'clock was the closing hour but according to the order passed by the municipal council calling the voters together for the primaries, the polls will close promptly at 8 o'clock. Returns should be available a few hours later.

Although there will be nominated two candidates for mayor, each voter

THANKSGIVING TURKEYS ARE ON THE WAY

Thanksgiving turkeys will go on sale in Lowell on Thursday or Friday of this week. They will open up at about the same price they sold for last year and there will be few cold storage birds on the market. Thus does William A. Keirstead, manager of the Lowell branch of Armour & Co., sum up the prospects for one of the salient features of the city's 1919 Thanksgiving observance.

Last year the first turkeys were sold at from 43 to 45 cents per pound. Mr. Keirstead expects this year's sale to start at 45 cents a pound and if the

MOTORCYCLIST IS SERIOUSLY INJURED

As a result of a collision between a motorcycle and an automobile truck in Gorham street Saturday night, Robert Whalen of 253 High street is at St. John's hospital suffering from a fractured skull and concussion of the brain and his condition is very serious.

As far as could be learned Whalen was driving a motorcycle owned by Roy Merrill of 92 Carlisle street and seated in the sidecar was Mrs. Merrill. At a point in Gorham street just beyond the East Chelmsford line the cycle crashed into an automobile truck operated by Nathan Fruider of the Hotel Edward of Boston. Whalen was rushed to the hospital shortly after the accident. Mrs. Merrill was injured.

WILL DISCUSS JITNEY QUESTION

For the purpose of discussing the acceptance of the so-called jitney act meetings of the citizens of Chelmsford will be held Wednesday evening in the lower town hall and Thursday evening in the hall at the Centre village. These meetings will be a sort of preliminary to the town meeting, which is scheduled for next Monday evening at the Centre town hall. It is expected that representatives of the railway company will be present at both meetings and that considerable discussion will take place, for many are not in favor of adopting the act, but believe that other means such as a reduction of fares and through car service should be taken in an endeavor to discourage jitney riding.

By Special Arrangement

ALICE VERLET

will give her favorite program, "Songs that America Loves." The celebrated coloratura soprano will appear herself in what will be the most notable musicale of the season.

Minor Clashes in Steel Strike Zone

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Nov. 17.—Minor clashes between striking steel workers and mill workers, took place this morning. It was estimated 6000 men were in the streets near the mill gates. A number of the men were injured and three were removed to a hospital. Pickets had nearly disappeared about the steel plants last week, but were out in force today and for the first time since the steel strike began, the union organizers themselves were in charge. Production increased somewhat today, mill officials said.

Four Killed on Grade Crossing

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—Four Hog Island shipyard workmen were killed and seven others injured today when a motor truck on which they were riding to work, was struck by a train at a grade crossing. The accident was due to the heaviest fog experienced here in many years. On the Delaware river, two ferryboats collided in mid-stream, and a third ferryboat crashed into a tramp steamship lying at anchor. No serious damage resulted from either collision.

Reactionaries Control Germany

COPENHAGEN, Sunday, Nov. 16.—Philipp Schendemann, former German chanceller, writing in the Voerwarts, says he considers that Germany is really in the power of reactionaries. "The entire army," he writes, "seems to be at the disposal of the reactionaries. Unity of the working classes has become a hounded duty."

Ex-Service Men Raid Meeting of Radicals

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 17.—A party of 100 citizens, composed mostly of former service men, raided a meeting of 300 alleged radicals at a Lithuanian hall here last night, breaking up the assembly and confiscating a red flag bearing a Russian inscription. The meeting was called by the Communist party.

would clear her skin

"She would be a pretty girl, if it wasn't for that pimply, blotchy complexion!" But the regular use of Resinol Soap, aided at first by a little Resinol Ointment, would probably make it clear, fresh and charming. If a poor skin is your handicap, begin using the Resinol treatment and see how quickly it improves.

Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment are excellent too, for the care of the hair, the pelting dandruff and keeping the hair live and lustrous. All druggists sell Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. The Resinol Treatment contains nothing that could injure or irritate the most sensitive skin.

TIMELY LECTURE GIVEN HERE

Rev. Jones I. Corrigan, S. J.,
Addresses League of Catholic Women

"The Church and the Social Crisis," Topic of Interesting Discourse

Rev. Jones I. Corrigan, S. J., a member of the faculty of Boston college, addressed members of the League of Catholic Women at the regular monthly meeting in Lincoln hall yesterday afternoon on the topic: "The Church and the Social Crisis," and gave a very enlightening outline of the industrial and economic difficulties which are facing the world today.

Rev. Fr. Corrigan, S. J., traced the genesis of the present trouble to the end of the 18th century when an industrial revolution occurred. He said the only hope of America today is in the moderate groups in both capital and labor.

The league orchestra made its first appearance yesterday and gave distinct pleasure to the large audience present. The members of the orchestra are:

Miss Marie J. C. O'Donnell, director; Misses Mariette Brunelle, Lillian Sullivan, Blanche Walsh, Angela O'Brien, Irene Lawler, Madeline Sullivan, Katherine Burke, Rose Hanlon, Mary M. O'Hearn, Margaret Loftus, Mary E. Leary, Grace McEvoy, Gertrude Regan, Blanche Reilly, Margaret Reilly, Grace Donehue, Estelle Coffey, Sadie Smith.

Miss Alice T. Lee, president of the league, stated that it had been deemed advisable to secure a room for the headquarters of the organization to be used as a meeting place and office for the transaction of business. The executive board had met earlier in the week to formulate plans for securing such a place. Mrs. Henry L. Bourke and Mrs. Allard were appointed at that time to look after furnishings and to secure funds. A whist party in St. Patrick's hall, Monday, Nov. 24, will be one of the affairs designed to assist in securing funds.

Fr. Corrigan's Address

After the business meeting, Miss Lee introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Rev. Fr. Corrigan, S. J., who addressed the league in part as follows:

I come to you to speak this afternoon on "The Church and the Social Crisis." I want to outline to you as best I can some of the difficulties that we have to face in the economic and industrial world today. I want to try to point out some of the principles on which these difficulties must be solved if there is to be a solution.

As we look out over the world today, especially the European world, what do we see? The world after the war is very much like a man who is just coming out of a strong and deep fever. The world is lying weak and prostrate. It has gone through a terrible experience. Four years and a half of war have left the peoples of the world in a fever of unrest, and especially in the European world is this difficulty found. The people over there are in great distress, in chaos and it is a great doubt in the minds of thinking men just what the outcome is going to be. What are the difficulties that the European peoples have got to face? They have first of all a greatly impaired morale. Most of the people in all those countries under the terrible sufferings of the war of four and a half years have lost a great deal of their physical and moral courage. They have lost all self reliance and that independence of spirit and that is necessary for any people, if they are to maintain civic worth.

The greatly impaired morale is found in the European countries and that extends in large measure to the spread of Bolshevik principles. They came just at a time when the seed ground was ready for the seeds of revolution and anarchy and they have made already great use of their principles. These radical agitators have spread distrust throughout the countries of Europe.

Starvation of Food

One of the greatest difficulties of Europe is the great shortage of food. The great wheat fields of Russia possibly are out of counting because of the devastation of war.

There is also a shortage of raw materials, such as cotton, wool, steel and copper. Therefore without these raw materials, the great industries and factories of Europe are idle, with the result that the people have no opportunity to employ themselves, so that on account of that they are facing great distress.

Then their system of transportation—the great railroads have been disorganized because of the strain of a 4½ years war. There was no opportunity to repair them, so the great transportation system on which the prosperity of all these things depends has been disorganized, and it will take a long time to repair it to put it on anywhere near like its former basis.

They turn to the United States, and the remarkable thing is that we have everything that Europe needs. America is facing today the greatest economic and industrial opportunity in its history. We have everything that Europe needs; we have plenty of food, according to Mr. Hoover, if only the hoarding will stop; we have cotton, wool, steel and copper; we have transportation, we have raw materials ready to send abroad. What do you find here in the United States in the face of this opportunity? We find here the grave condition of industrial unrest.

I say that the social crisis in the United States is a fact; if you want to prove it all you have to do is to think for a moment of the number of strikes that have taken place in our country since the beginning of this year. Let me read them to you:

In January of this year there were in the United States 185 strikes; in February, 160; in March, 102; in April, 184; in May, 219; in June, 245 and in July 364 and in August 308. That was before the serious steel strike and consequently before the very serious coal strike that has been threatened in the last two weeks.

Thus the United States is in great danger and because of this danger the president called an industrial conference in Washington that had such sad results. He called together groups representing capital and groups representing labor and a group representing the public and because of fundamental disputes the conference went on the rocks and nothing was accomplished towards a solution of this very grave condition that faces the country at large.

Now as we look out over the country what do we observe? If you visualize the situation, you will find on the one side that there are extreme capitalists who may fairly be termed plutocrats. On the other side you have in the labor part of the difficulties, radical men who want exorbitant conditions and are holding out for impossible demands. You have extremists on both sides. Among the plutocrats you have a small coterie of men who are seeking power and are striving after autocratic control. There is without doubt in this country an invisible government

Nervous, Weak,

Anemic, pale, you need the pronounced effects of that superlative reconstructive and restorative,

Peptiron The Real Iron Tonic

Made by O. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.

on the part of these few men. Remember when I speak of these plutocrats I am in no sense speaking of rich men as such, because I am well aware that there are very many rich men who are just as anxious to bring industrial justice to all parties as the best minds on the side of labor or capital, but when I speak of those plutocrats I am speaking of that little band of men who have, through their wealth and their manipulations of legislation endeavored to get that autocratic control over the economic freedom of the country.

You have a little band of men who dictate in large measure what laws shall govern us, what food shall nourish us and what clothing shall cover us; in fact, our political freedom and our political democracy are threatened by an autocratic sub-government on the part of these men, because what use is our freedom if we are under the dictation of men who through economic control can say how far our freedom shall be exercised? They are a very dangerous little band and they need curbing if the democratic principles of our government are to be maintained. You cannot have democracy if you have class rule, whether of capital or of labor.

On the Labor Side

You have on the labor side extremists, radical agitators, who are going about the country and are striving to stir up discord and disaffection in the laboring element, through working bands. These radical agitators are striving to get the laboring men, the workers and the toilers, to break away from conservative methods and follow a false gospel.

The worst enemy that capital has is the little forces of men in their own group, who are ready to crush labor back to where it was 30 or 40 years ago. These men will bring about a serious condition in the economic life of our country unless they are curbed. The worst enemy that labor has is the radical agitator in its own ranks. These agitators are ready to put into execution the principles that wrecked Russia and will bring a condition into the United States that will closely resemble Russia's red revolution. Both these classes are dangerous and need curbing at the hands of the government. The only hope of America is in the moderate groups in both capital and labor—moderate capitalists, who are ready to give labor a square deal, and the men in the labor groups who are ready to give capital a square deal. Through them we can hope for the successful solution of the serious condition which faces our country today.

But you ask, where does this unrest come from? What are the sources of it? About 125 years ago at the end of the 18th century occurred what was known as the industrial revolution. It was at that time steam with its wonderful power was discovered. Then machinery was invented and steam power applied. The great factory system was developed. Before then each man had worked mostly in his home using the tools at his command. Later, in order to cut down expenses, laborers worked long hours.

The Socialistic Party

Then a great reaction set in. The socialistic party sprang up all over Europe. It went on the principles of Owen, LeBlanc and Karl Marx of Germany. Socialists said this condition was wrong, and it was. They said the cause of this condition was the system of private ownership and that is where they were wrong.

The reason and cause of the distress was the abuse of that system. So they went on until in the year 1891 the great Pope Leo XIII, seeing the condition in which the working classes were living, issued his wonderful encyclical to all the world. He told both classes until something was done and that quickly there would be a worldwide revolution. It was the same with the countries of Europe.

Pope Leo said: "You are arming one against the other. You are bringing an inevitable war and unless you stop this army, one against the other, you will precipitate a worldwide war." He told capitalists, "unless you be just to labor; unless you give the workingman a few returns which he has a right to, a natural justice for his labor, you will precipitate an industrial war and you will involve all the nations of the world."

They left the church and the principles of Christ out of their calculations

AT ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE HALL

A large attendance greeted the artists who took part in the concert held last evening in St. Joseph's college hall in Merrimack street, which was a sort of testimonial for Prof. Olivier C. Bisson, known as the dean of musicians of Lowell. The affair had been organized under the direction of Prof. L. N. Guilbault and was a real treat for lovers of good music, while the receipts of the evening were very substantial.

Prof. Philippe O. Bergeron presided over the evening's program and those who elated the audience with instrumental and vocal selections were Prof. Martial St. George, teacher of violin, graduate of the Academy of Music of Quebec; Miss Katherine V. Hennessey, a favorite soprano; Miss Anna Martel, another soprano of wide reputation; Prof. Frederick G. Bond, a noted baritone; Mr. Eugene Guilbault, an accomplished pianist; Mr. George Hebert, a pleasing tenor; and Mr. J. H. Amodee Lebrun, the well known cornetist. Miss Georgiana Desrosiers was the accompanist of the evening.

The concert was given under the patronage of Mrs. Henri Achin, Jr., Mrs. Amodee Archambault, Mrs. Louise Legare, Mrs. Joseph Marin and Mrs. George E. Mongeau. The ushers were Messrs. William Blodreau and Lucien Tremblay.

Everybody help to get out the vote tomorrow. Polls open from 12 noon to 5 p. m.

NATURE'S MIRROR

When a woman is well and healthy—there's a sparkle in her eyes, a rose tint in her cheeks, and she has rich red blood. There's elasticity in every movement and a spring in her step. Love comes to every woman who has bounding health—but when she is pallid, dull eyed, languid, she has no magnetism nor does she appeal to any man.

Such a change in feelings and looks! After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged down by weaknesses of her sex—with eyes sunken, black circles and pale cheeks—such a woman is quickly restored to health by the Favorite Prescription of Dr. Pierce. Changed, too, in looks, for after taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the skin becomes clear, the eyes brighter, the cheeks plump. It is purely vegetable, contains no alcohol.

Druggists sell it in tablets or liquid. Send Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y., 10c for trial package.

STREET RAILWAY WILL RAISE FARE

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 17.—The public service commission today authorized the Fitchburg & Lowell street Railway Co. operating between North Chelmsford and Fitchburg, to increase its fare to 10 cents, the rate now being seven cents. It also allowed the company to charge 3 1-2 cents on trip tickets, the present rate being 6½ cents. The company at the public hearing upon the petition said it lost a great amount of patronage when activities ceased at Camp Devens.

Be sure to vote tomorrow. Polls open from 12 noon to 5 p. m.

LOTS OF "JAKE" AT POLICE STATION

Fully $500 worth of Jamaica ginger—more commonly referred to in these dry days as "jakey"—is today at Lowell police station.

Just 1320 bottles, to be exact. It is there because last Saturday evening Supt. Welch and several members of Lowell's "finest" raided a variety store on French street and took it back to the station with them.

Joseph R. Dubé is the proprietor of the store. The police say that he will be arraigned this week on a charge of illegal keeping of intoxicating liquor.

Duty calls you to the polls tomorrow. Vote between 12 noon and 5 p. m.

BIG DANCING CONTEST TOMORROW NIGHT

The stage is all set for the opening of the big dancing contest for $200 in prizes and to determine the championship of the Merrimack Valley at Associate hall tomorrow night. Contestants, including the leading dancers of Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill and other places, are to appear.

The bringing together of the leading dancers in this section entailed considerable work and expense, but the managers of the affair feel that their efforts will be crowned with success. This will mark the first time that such a mammoth event has been held here, and the interest being evidenced throughout this city and the surrounding towns indicates that large crowds will turn out to watch the terrific dancing artists perform.

At tomorrow night's affair the winning couple will be presented $100, while the couples finishing second and third will be eligible for competition a week from tomorrow night. The contest will run for four weeks.

Preliminary events will be held tomorrow night and the two succeeding Tuesday nights, with the grand finale on Tuesday evening, Dec. 2. Ten dollars will be awarded each of the first three nights and the remainder of the $200 will be distributed on the final night.

The contest is open to all, and entrants may send in their names any day or appear at Associate hall on the night of the dance and register their names. Miner-Doyle's orchestra will furnish music and Barney Horan will sing.

Primary returns will be announced during the evening.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the most attractions and of others to come:

THE STRAND

Of D. W. Griffith's latest picture production, "Broken Blossoms," which is to be shown on The Strand screen the first three days of this week, Charles Hanson Towne, editor of Motion Picture magazine, says: "I have never cared for motion pictures. So many of them are cheap and lowly, and the stories seem to have no little relation to life as it is. But the other day I went to see 'Broken Blossoms,' and I stand converted. If stories can be told in this wonderful way upon the screen, then a new art has indeed arrived—an art as important as that of poetry and music." This really remarkable picture story will be shown at our usual prices. Boston and New York patrons paid $4 prices to see the same offering. Don't miss it.

The other feature for the first part of the week will be Harry Moray's latest picture, "In Honor's Web," proclaimed one of his best picture efforts. The usual high-grade comedy and Weekly will also be shown on the screen and there will be other superior contributions.

OPERA HOUSE

Following on the heels of John Meehan's great stage success of the week, the Lowell Players will present for the coming attraction at the Opera House, Fred Johnson's big stage success, "The Naughty Wife," a farce comedy in three parts that is said to be one of the real prizes of the present-day stage. It has scored triumphs in every theatre where it has appeared, and will unquestionably rank with the best offerings by the Players this season. The play is based on an interrupted elopement between a young neglected wife and a rather blunt philanderer. When the husband, an author, whose novels always possess a happy ending, discovers the plan he does an unconventional thing. He accepts the arrangements complacently, aids his wife in packing her trunk and insists that the honeymoon be spent in his romantically situated bungalow in Long Island. This starts a series of complications and laughable situations that carry the piece along on one continuous round of humor that serves well its purpose. In the end the domestic harmony is recovered and the philanderer forms a new alliance with his old sweetheart and things give promise of a happy and satisfactory future.

With such an amusing vehicle of entertainment in their hands the Players are sure of giving genuine satisfaction to the patrons. Miss Margaret Fields, the charming leading woman of the company, will appear in the role of the "naughty wife" and should create favorable comment from all sides. Miss Fields has demonstrated her skill in comedy parts in the past, and her newest endeavor should fit her capabilities along these lines to perfection. John Meehan and Hal Crane will also carry a goodly share of the burden and their efforts will surely give general satisfaction, while the remainder of the supporting cast will be found in congenial roles. J. Francis Kirk will stage the piece and he promises one of the cleverest productions of his local engagement, which means much when some of his past endeavors are taken into consideration. Tel. 261 and have your tickets reserved. Don't wait. Better still have your name placed on the subscription list.

LOWELL STATE GUARDSMEN HOME

Fifty more enlisted Lowell state guardsmen and four officers returned home yesterday after continuous police duty in Boston since Sept. 9. The commissioned men to return are Capt. Royal P. White, Capt. Edward Fisher, Lieut. Edward W. Daley and Lieut. Oliver Stevens.

There still remain more than 50 Lowell men in the Hub as members of the Third Provisional regiment, which still is on duty during the last phases of the emergency. Some are stationed in the Roslindale district, some at Field's Corner and others at the South armory in Irvington street. No definite date as to their relief has been mentioned.

PROHIBITION IN THE CANAL ZONE
PANAMA, Friday, Nov. 14.—Announcement today that prohibition had come into effect in the Canal Zone, under the passing by congress Oct. 28, of the war-time prohibition enforcement bill, created consternation in the community. It had been anticipated that prohibition would not become effective until January, under the 18th Amendment to the United States constitution. There was no disorder however.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION

Governor Gets Letter Urging
That Members of Commission be Re-appointed

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Nov. 17.—The Massachusetts highway association, composed largely of highway officials in the principal cities and towns of the commonwealth, has sent to Governor Coolidge a letter signed by more than fifty of its members including practically all of the past presidents urging that the present members of the Massachusetts highway commission be re-appointed to the new department of public works which is to take over the duties of the present highway commission and the commission on waterways and public lands.

The letter points out that there has been no change in the personnel of the highway commission during the past seven years, and as a result of this continuous contact with highway problems the members of the commission have become especially qualified to carry on the work which has been entrusted to them. During their term of office the system of state highways in Massachusetts has been developed to such a degree of excellence that it is generally acknowledged to be the best in the United States, and it is conceded by automobile authorities that the Massachusetts commission's administration of automobile laws is far ahead of every other state in the country.

The highway commission has handled more than $25,000,000 of public funds without the slightest allegation from any source that even a penny of this vast amount has been misappropriated.

Among the signers of the letter are

Steele, Ala.—"During the Change of Life I had hot flashes, was nervous, ran down, and had sick headaches for two or three days at a time. I took Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am much stronger and better in every way than I was. My daughter's health broke down last June from teaching school without rest, and she has taken Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the blood medicine with good results. She is much better at teaching now and I give your medicine the praise. You are welcome to use this letter for the benefit of other suffering women."—Mrs. T. A. CANNON, R.R. No. 1, Steele, Ala.

Women who suffer as Mrs. Cannon did should not hesitate to give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial, as the evidence that is constantly being published proves beyond question that this grand old remedy has relieved much suffering among women.

THE INDUSTRIAL
ACCIDENT LAW

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 17.—A bill to be considered by the coming session of the legislature, filed with the clerk of the house today, provides for larger compensation to injured workmen under the operation of the industrial accident law.

The measure, which was introduced by Representative Edward F. Harrington of Fall River, would extend the provisions of the present statutes by which workmen's compensation payments would be made in those accidents in which the victim is incapacitated for but a short time.

At present the law stipulates that no compensation shall be allowed in those cases where the wage-earner is incapacitated for ten days or less, payments starting from the 11th day after the actual injury. If a man suffers an injury which lays him up a week or so, therefore, he is not entitled to the payments.

Under the terms of the measure introduced today, the payment would start from the date of injury if the workman is incapacitated for a period of at least seven days, or three days less than under the present law. If this measure is reported by the legislature Representative Harrington proposes to make a fight on another providing that compensation shall begin after seven days of the date of injury, if the person injured has been incapacitated for a week or more. This is a compromise measure.

Much room for improvement in the workmen's compensation law as it now stands exists, says Mr. Harrington.

"In every city and town in the state in which the larger part of the people work in mills and factories there are constantly developing cases in which hard working men and women are thrown out of their employment and receive nothing in return," he added. "To one who has plenty of money this does not appear extremely important, that is, the loss of a few weeks' employment, but to the working man with a large family to support and who has to stand the high cost of living from every angle the matter is one of the utmost gravity."

Many members of the legislature have already assured Mr. Harrington of support in his efforts to enact the legislation into law. HOYT.

Fine overcoat values

WHEN we sell an overcoat or suit, or anything else, the supposition is that it's a good thing for us. May be it is and may be it isn't. Depends on how good it is for our customer. That's why we're so particular about what we sell.

You certainly hope to get good value when you buy your overcoat; you'll have to pay a pretty good price for it. It ought to be worth something to you to have a "line" on just what you are getting.

Hart Schaffner & Marx tell you plainly what they put into their goods—all-wool fabrics, thorough tailoring. Do you know of any other clothes that is true of? There may be others, but nobody seems to be saying so.

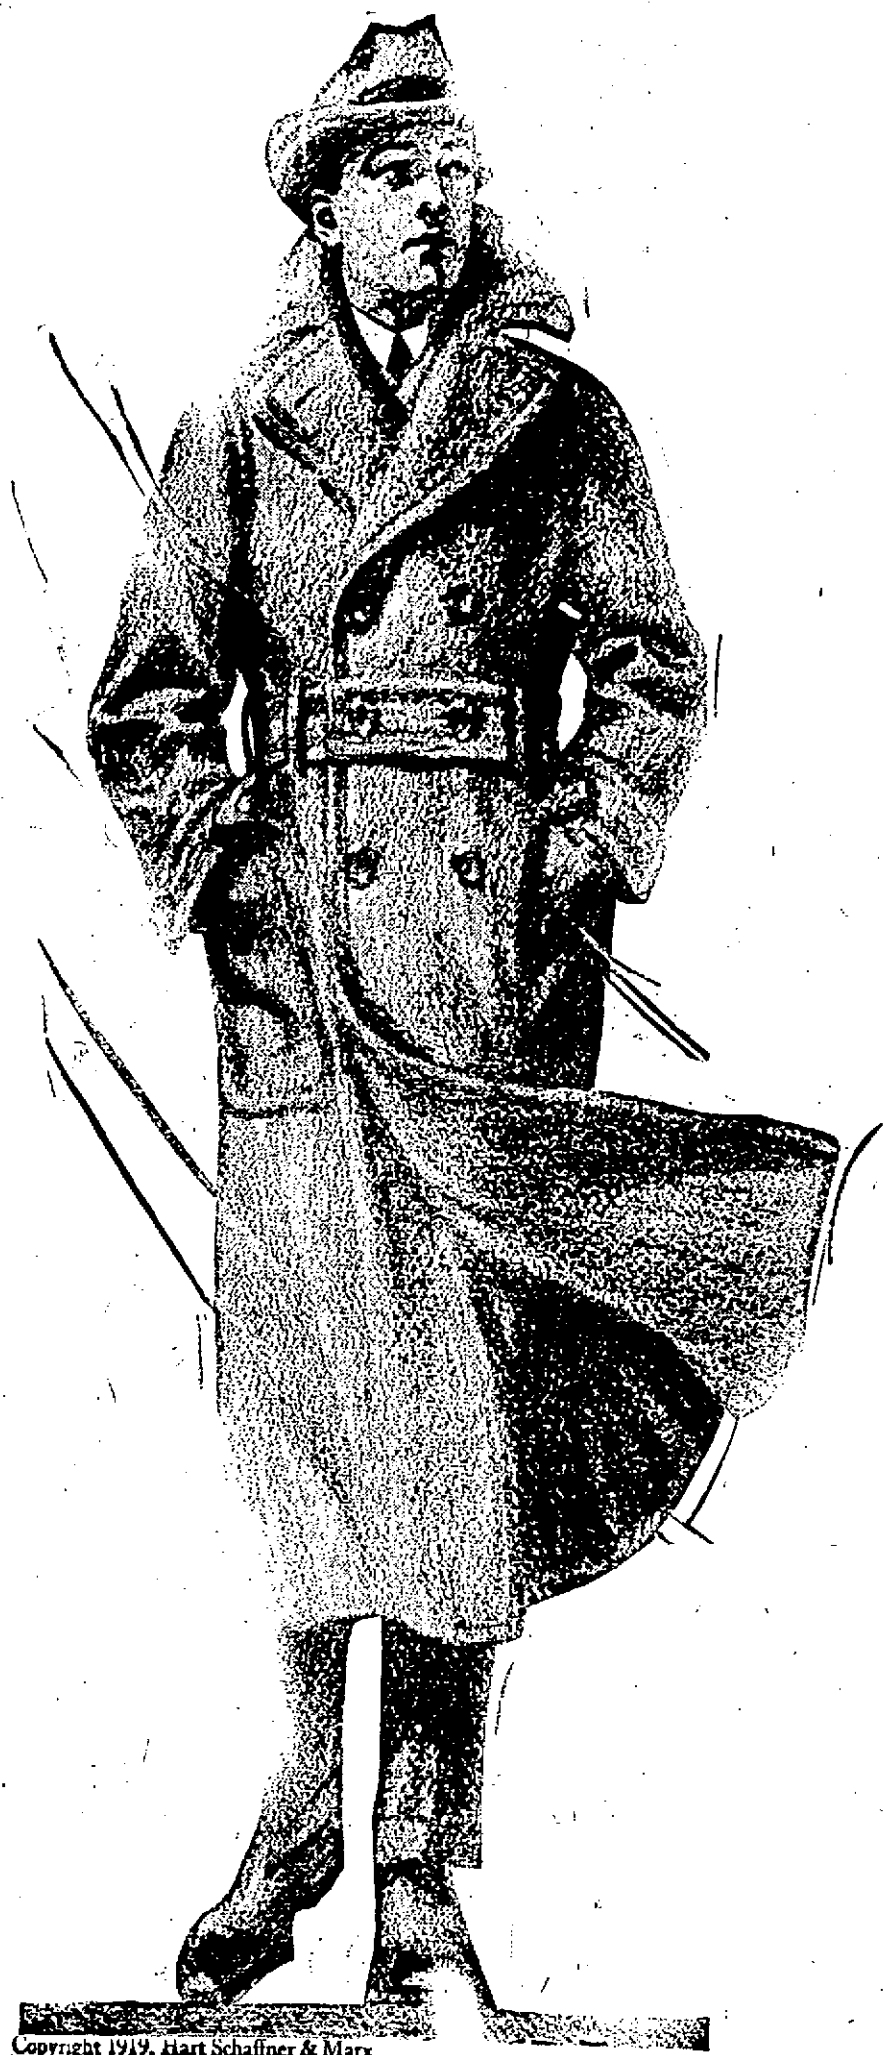

Let us show you the right overcoat now; we have it.

TURNED THE TABLES ON "JAKEY" SELLER

The crusade against "Jakey" selling, recently inaugurated by the Lowell police, bore fruit in police court today when Peter P. Vlahos, a Middlesex street storekeeper, pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor and paid a fine of $75. Vlahos is the first local merchant to answer to a charge of this kind in the Lowell court.

Vlahos was arrested in police court this morning by Deputy Downey following his appearance as complainant against John Reardon, charged with drunkenness. Vlahos said that Reardon had fallen through one of the windows in his store Saturday evening, and he hoped something could be done in the way of restitution for the damage.

Reardon admitted that he might have fallen through the window. He had been drunk, he said, and it was the "Jakey" he had bought at Vlahos' store that had been the cause of his fall from the water wagon.

"I've spent $65 for Jakey at his store in the past month, Your Honor," added Reardon.

Whereupon Deputy Downey announced that a warrant had been issued for Vlahos on a charge of unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor, and immediately placed him under arrest.

Vlahos pleaded guilty to the charge and Officer Wink took the stand. In company with Officer Conney he had visited Vlahos' store early last evening, he said. Vlahos had sold Officer Conney a bottle of Jamaica ginger and a bottle of tonic. Vlahos had told them they might drink the combination in the store, he testified.

The price of the Jamaica ginger, which was sold in a four ounce bottle, was 90 cents, Officer Wink said. Later in the evening Officers Moore, Conney and he had searched the store and found several bottles of Jamaica ginger, he said. Vlahos had admitted selling the ginger and tonic for beverage purposes, he declared.

The arrest and disposal of Vlahos' case consumed less than five minutes. The case of Reardon was placed on file.

Thanksgiving Turkeys

goods is the publicity which has been given the government's campaign against hoarding. This has served to induce many cold storage firms to put their product on the market during the year, rather than hold off until the holiday season. Although the so-called "hoarding" was perfectly legitimate in the majority of instances, according to Mr. Keirstead, the firms thought it better business tactics to dispose of part of their stock before the advent of Thanksgiving.

"There will be plenty of turkeys in Lowell for everybody who wants one," said Mr. Keirstead in discussing the subject. "I anticipate a better quality turkey than has come to Lowell in previous years owing to the small number of cold storage products that will be on the market. The price should open up about the same as last year, say 45 cents per pound, and if we get a lot of fresh turkeys, it may run as high as 48 or 50 cents.

"The price question, of course, is governed by the law of supply and demand. The turkeys are being shipped to New York and Boston now and should arrive in those centers today or tomorrow. By Thursday or Friday they will be ready for the Lowell markets.

"When they get here they will go on sale at the prices I have mentioned. Then as the holiday draws near if the retail dealers find that they are not disposing of their stock as rapidly as they wish, they will lower the price a little. It all depends on how fast

Mr. Keirstead said that the biggest part of Lowell's supply will come from Kentucky and Michigan, although other parts of the country, of course, send part of their output to this section.

As for the "fixin's" to go with the turkey dinner, vegetables will be at about their usual prices for this time of the year, but the most serious problem confronting the housewife will be the sugar shortage. Cranberry sauce would be about the cheapest article of food on the market this year had it not been for the shortage of sugar. There are plenty of cranberries but little sweetening. Similarly, the sugar shortage will be reflected in the curtailment of the usual elaborate

INCREASE RATES

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 17.—Three daily newspapers of New Orleans will increase subscription rates from 15 to 20 cents a week, according to announcements yesterday, because of the increased cost of white paper. The States and the Item, afternoon papers, will raise the street prices from two to three cents a copy. The Times-Picayune, afternoon newspaper, did not change the street price of five cents a copy.

STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETING

Members of the local board of trade, through its secretary, John J. O'Rourke, have received an invitation to be present at the annual meeting of the Massachusetts chamber of commerce to be held at the Hotel Vendome, Boston, Friday, Nov. 21, from 2 to 6.30 p. m. The afternoon session will be given over to the annual address of the president and reports from the various officers of the chamber.

The evening session will be in the form of a banquet and the speakers will include Governor Calvin Coolidge.

With the completion of a second portable school in the yard of the Morey grammar school in the Highlands, the children who have been doing their school work by gaslight in the basement of the main school building will have an opportunity to return to more normal surroundings next Wednesday when the portable school will be opened for occupancy, according to Commissioner George E. Marchand of the public property department.

The basement classroom has been in use at the Morey school for the past two years, Commissioner Marchand says, and both pupils and teacher will be glad of an opportunity to change.

LOWELL MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION

The membership committee of the recently organized Lowell Merchants' association met at the board of trade rooms this morning to outline plans for an aggressive campaign to enroll new members. Letters have been sent to 150 local merchants, inviting them to become members, but up to the present time, only 35 have actually joined.

INSTALLING RADIATORS

Employees of the assessors' office will not be given the cold shoulder this winter despite the $25 tax rate, if Commissioner Marchand of the public property department can prevent it. The commissioner is having radiators installed in this office, one of the largest in city hall which has long been noted as being the coldest in winter.

ATTACK ON CAPITAL
One of the main points of attack by the radicals of all classes is capital. They want capital, so called, overthrown or, in other words, they want the present owners' dispossessed and their property of every description turned over to the I. W. W.'s and the proletariat in general.

The socialists claim that all capital has been unjustly fleeced from labor. They do not admit that men can do any work other than manual labor. Mental labor is evidently not regarded as of any value. It is not surprising to find this belief prevalent where men set no value upon management or business direction, claiming that the entire value of the product of every factory should go to the workers therein and that the proprietors who invested their money in the enterprise, have no right to any part of the properties they have acquired by their long years of labor.

Take for example one of our mills as representing capital. Eugene V. Debs when running for president on the socialist ticket, visited Lowell and in a speech on the South common he pointed to the big mills, saying: "Look at yonder factories with tall chimneys pointing to the skies. Those buildings and their equipment were raised by money extorted from honest labor." In other words he intimated that the mills belong to labor or to the people who work in them rather than to the real legal owners.

Let us see about that. These mills grew from small beginnings. When the companies first incorporated, they offered stock for sale and this was purchased by scores of mill operatives or toilers in other lines who had saved a little money by their hard labor. The shares at first paid dividends and they became more valuable from year to year, but they always represented money, the price of labor.

The owners of the mills therefore, are not all people of wealth, but to a great extent people of moderate means who through industry and frugality have saved a little money. Yet these are the people the socialists would rob. The latter hold that the laboring people should own the factories and run them so as to become the real producers.

Why do not the socialists start factories of their own and run them as they please? The answer is, that it requires money and brains; and while they may have the money, they lack the other essential. If they didn't they wouldn't be socialists or anarchists. The ultimate aim of the I. W. W.'s, the socialists, Bolsheviks and all other branches of the revolutionary cult, is to seize by force the wealth of the country and establish a dictatorship of the proletariat precisely same as in Russia at the present time. That idea is at the bottom of much of the unrest in this country today and is due to the working of revolutionary elements either openly and independently or secretly through the medium of labor unions.

Their aim is to get the masses to break away from the conservative leaders so that they will be easily swayed by revolutionary agitators. In view of the activity of the various dangerous elements, it is absolutely necessary that capital and labor work hand in hand in conjunction with the public at large for the benefit of the nation. It is only by joining the forces of all three that the aims of the Reds can be defeated. Wherever capital and labor are found in conflict, there they are serving the purpose of the radicals, although they may be wholly unconscious of the fact. It is necessary, therefore, that employees and employers shall cease their opposition and join hands for their common good and that of the whole people. It is only in this way that they can thwart the designs of the radicals which they foster and promote by labor strikes which constitute the chief weapon of the revolutionists.

Let capital be less arbitrary and labor less unreasonable and soon there will be peace and harmony, increased production and prosperity; but better still the spirit of Bolshevism will soon be banished from the land.

AS TO RAILROAD STRIKES
The republicans in charge of the railroad bill in the national house have abandoned the idea of adopting any arbitrary method of either preventing strikes or of settling labor disputes between railroad companies and their employees. The house adopted the voluntary method submitted by the railroad brotherhoods providing for six commissions, three of which are to be made up equally of employees and employers and the other three to be constituted boards of appeal. The latter will not be equally representative of both sides and it is not clear as to just how the members will be appointed. However, it is quite plain that there will be a sufficient number of boards to hold the questions in statu quo for a considerable time. Even though this should be unsatisfactory, it may be better than the prompt declaration of a strike.

The national house may be criticized for appearing to bow to the demands of the railroad brotherhoods as was done when the Adamson bill was passed. But perhaps in the present instance, it is better not to force compulsory arbitration or to adopt an anti-strike law until the measures proposed by the brotherhoods have been thoroughly tried out. A very serious situation might be precipitated if congress passed a law containing an anti-strike provision or even imposing a penalty for strikes. Such a law might cause a nationwide railroad strike for which the country is certainly not prepared at the present time. But in the near future, the dictatorship of the railroad brotherhoods over congress must be fought to a finish. Ever since the beginning of the war, these brotherhoods have practically dictated their own terms to congress and forced submission. That condition is subversive of the sovereignty of the people and the very foundation of our liberties.

The senate is favorable to the Cummins bill, which has an anti-strike clause to which the brotherhoods are sternly opposed. It is quite probable that the differences on this point will be arranged in conference. The senate may insist upon a more radical method of settling labor disputes affecting the railroads than that adopted by the house. The question must be settled in some form very soon as the time is at hand when the railroads are to be turned back to the former owners with entirely new arrangements for management and operation.

A WORD OF WARNING
The campaign for the municipal primaries is now practically over and it only remains for the voters to do their part in going to the polls and voting according to their judgment for the men they believe to be best fitted to give the city faithful, efficient and progressive service.

Unfortunately it sometimes happens that many of our most intelligent citizens do not attend the primaries. In absconding themselves they evade their obligation to assist in selecting the best candidates available for the offices to be filled. If they do so in the present case, they will be responsible if unworthy or incompetent men are nominated. Let every citizen do his duty tomorrow in the interest of better government for our city.

There is a multiplicity of candidates and of these there will be but two nominated for mayor, four for aldermen and four for school committee. But it should be remembered that each voter is entitled to vote only for as many candidates in each case as are required to fill the prospective vacancies. That means one candidate for mayor, two for commissioner and two for the school board.

The polls will open at noon and close at 3 p. m. Let there be no mistake as to the hour, and let every registered voter get to the polls early and be careful to comply with the rules in marking his ballot so that it may be counted for the candidates of his choice, rather than in the mass of blanks. The large number of blanks in every election proves that many voters through carelessness or otherwise spoil their ballots.

THE AMERICAN LEGION
The American Legion is the hope and inspiration of this country, the organization or crystallization of loyalty and patriotism on which the nation can rely as a bulwark against socialism, I. W. Wism, Bolshevism, anarchy and every dangerous element present or future that might threaten our constitution or our flag. The boys who belong to the legion have sacrificed too much for the flag to allow any band of foreign conspirators to carry on seditious or anarchistic operations in this country if, by their action, such opposition to our government can be prevented.

The time has arrived when membership in any of the revolutionary organizations mentioned should be prima facie evidence of guilt and should be sufficient to cause conviction and punishment or deportation of the parties so offending.

As the Grand Army has been the conservator of patriotism and loyalty ever since the Civil war, so the American Legion will stand ever ready to resent an insult to the flag and to defend it against all enemies, whether foreign or domestic.

Every patriotic American will heartily support the government in every step it takes to suppress the revolutionary efforts of the Reds. The administration will not allow Bolshevism a foothold on our soil even though it be financed by Lenin and Trotsky from the booty taken from the people of Russia by a tyranny worse than any exercised by the czars.

MAN ABOUT TOWN
The local printers are not making as large a haul from the cards of political candidates as they used to in the good old days before the advent of the present form of charter. I am told. Before 1912, there were 27 members in the old common council, nine members in the board of aldermen and nine members in the school committee. At the present time there are but five members of the city government, eight in the school committee on which there are also five members. Accordingly, there are fewer cards printed each fall both on account of the comparatively small number of offices to be filled and the fact that each candidate needs to run for office only once every two years.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL
Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. For 17 years he used these tablets (a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil) in his private practice with great success. They do all the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. No pains or griping, no injury to the organs or danger from acid stools. They stimulate the liver and bowels, take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they clear clouded brain and perk up the spirits. 10c and 25c a box.

rectors are to form his cabinet, the heads of departments the senate, and the house of representatives is to be chosen by ballot from among the employees. The aim is to get the benefit of discussion in conducting the business and to maintain good feeling between the management and the employees. This plan is likely to result in some form of profit-sharing by the employees and is commendable as a step toward closer and more friendly relations between employer and employee.

Now it is the Chinese laundryman who has raised his prices. "Cost more for clean collar next week," said my laundryman today when I left him a batch of soiled linen. "How much more?" I queried, getting ready for a shock. But it wasn't so bad, after all. "Collar three cents next week," he smilingly informed me. Well, what's a half cent raise compared to what the profligate are getting out of us for shoes and steak? Friend laundryman has the same overworked attitude for his price-increase which has been repeated by all other professions; namely, that everything costs so much these days. And I'll bet he's sending a tidy sum of money over to the "old country" every year, too.

DONATION DAY FOR ORPHANAGE

The annual donation day for St. Peter's orphanage will be held next Saturday afternoon at the orphanage at Stevens street and the usual interesting features associated with the occasion will once more be carried out. Gifts of money, food and clothing will be gladly accepted. A musical program will be carried out at three o'clock and will be followed by tea served by the ladies of St. Elizabeth's Guild under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Hennessey. The general public is invited to co-operate to make the 1919 donation day notable in the annals of the orphanage.

ST. PATRICK'S ACADEMY ALUMNI ASSOCIATION
Plans for the annual reunion of members of St. Patrick's Academy Alumni Association were discussed at a meeting of the organization held yesterday morning in the school hall in Suffolk street. It was the first meeting of the season and considerable enthusiasm was manifested. Rev. Brother Nilus, superior of the academy, addressed those present and told of the success of last year's banquet. He predicted an even greater success this year. John J. Flannery was instructed to appoint a committee of 25 to have full charge of the coming banquet. St. Patrick's Alumni was organized 12 years ago and was the first of its kind connected with any of the schools of the Xaverian brothers in the state. Its success has led other schools conducted by members of the Xaverian order to form similar organizations and at the present time practically every school has an alumni association. The local alumni have had established a four-year scholarship at Boston college to be awarded each year to a graduate of St. Patrick's academy.

RACE GROWS HOTTER IN POLO LEAGUE

With another week of the American Roller Polo league over the race for the pennant is now one of the most bitterly contested in the history of the game. A glance at the league standing will show all teams closely bunched with all still in the fight for the championship.

Lowell suffered considerably last week through the inactivity of Young Davies, who was just beginning to show class, when forced to play off a result of an attack of boils. Slater and O'Brien were secured to fill in, but both were lost, owing to unfamiliarity with the roller polo. The substitution threw additional burdens on the other members of the team and while all worked in expert fashion, they were unable to hold off the opposition. But in the exception of the first game of the week, Lowell gave all opponents a stiff battle, forcing Fall River into overtime, and holding Lawrence to a two to one victory on last Friday night.

Lawrence showed much class last week and a continuation of the fast work is bound to bring the down river entry up the ladder. Fall River, New Bedford, Salem, Worcester and Providence also played good polo.

The Lowell-Lawrence game of last Friday night will be recorded in the league annals as one of the fastest, cleanest and most hotly contested games of the season, and see, Perrin of the league was present to see the fun. He pronounced it one of the best ever seen. It was a battle all the way, and despite the closeness of the score and the bitter rivalry between the teams, no semblance of illegal play was evident. It was the kind of a game that made friends and foes of those who were in the big crowd present will soon forget the high class exhibition.

Lowell will have two classy combinations here this week. On tomorrow night Fred Jean and his Fall River "Tigers," the sensation of the league, will be here while on Friday night, the New Bedford Whites, with "Bob" Hart, Lowell favorite, Friday Doherty, Paul Gardner, Nossle Conley and Jack Kehoe in the lineup will be with us.

POLO NOTES

Salem and Lawrence showed the way last week, each winning four and losing two games—Worcester, New Bedford and Providence broke even, Fall River won two out of six and Lowell one out of three.

Games this week:
Tonight—Lawrence at Providence; Worcester at Salem.
Tuesday—Fall River at Lowell; Providence at Lawrence; Salem at New Bedford.
Wednesday—Providence at Worcester; Lawrence at Fall River; New Bedford at Salem.
Thursday—No games scheduled.
Friday—New Bedford at Lowell; Worcester at Fall River.
Saturday—Lowell at Providence; Fall River at Lawrence; Salem at Worcester.

The league officials, as predicted, have upheld Referee Carroll in his forfeiture of last Tuesday's game to Lowell over Lawrence.

BOXING BOUTS OF WEEK

Fine Bill for C. A. A. Thursday—Herman vs. Vatlin, Duffy vs. O'Brien

Three ten round bouts and one six round event have been arranged for next Thursday night's meeting of the Crescent A.A. and the card promises abundant action.

Pekin Kid Herman, who has been in Lowell for about a week in anticipation of bouts in this section, has been matched to meet Tony Vatlin, the "Ironman." This bout is attracting considerable attention. It will be Herman's first appearance in this city, and Martin Flaherty, who is looking after his interest here, says he is a speedy and hard hitting performer, who in his opinion is capable of giving any man of his weight a stiff battle. Vatlin's ability is well known here. He can always be depended upon to put up a satisfactory battle, and his recent victory over Chick Sugar, gave him a great boost.

Fully buffy of Everett and Shaver O'Brien of South Boston, two rivals who have engaged in several thrilling battles, will appear in another ten round number. This should be a hummer. Johnny Downes and Johnny Gray, a pair of action performers are also on the program for a ten round event. There will also be a preliminary.

Other bouts:
Tonight—Penny Leonard vs. Jimmy Duffy, Tuesday, Willie Jackson vs. Jake Schaffer, Buffalo, Turkey vs. K. O. Brown, Canton, O., Bill Brennan vs. Andy Schneider, and Mel Coogan vs. Jimmy Murray, Philadelphia; Al Walz vs. Tommy Fitzsimmons, Westfield; J. White vs. Pat Moore, Memphis; Chick Simler vs. Pat Pryor, Pittsburgh; Ray Turner vs. Battling Levinsky, Montreal; Hobbs Dwyer vs. George Assey, New Bedford; Barney Adair vs. Pinky Mitchell, Racine.

Tuesday—Eddie Fitzsimmons vs. Cal Delaney, Detroit; Fitzsimmons vs. Rocky Kansas, Syracuse; Benny Valgar vs. H. Fara, Newark; Alvie Miller vs. Joe Fox, Lorain; Benjie McCow vs. Abe Friedman, Charley Bergin vs. Tommy Elms, Joe Faren vs. Battling Al Nelson, Phil Christie vs. Young Dempsey, Armory A.A., Boston, Tuesday night.

Wednesday—Patsey Cline vs. Ritchie Mitchell, Detroit; Eddie May vs. Harry Pierce, Marietta; Frankie Fleming vs. Louie Michaels, Montreal; Marty Collins vs. Al Girard, Augusta, Me.

Thursday—Mel Coogan vs. Pinky Mitchell, Milwaukee; Frank Moran vs. Bill Roper, Saginaw; Sam Walter vs. Ray Lahn, New Britain; Eddie McAndrews vs. Jim Coffey, Webster; Roy Moore vs. Joe Lynch and three other bouts, Fenway A.A., Boston, Thursday night.

Friday—Bobby Dwyer vs. Willie Spencer and Al Calkins vs. Billy Cahill, Marietta; Billy Fitzsimmons vs. Frankie Brown, Lewiston; Joe Egan vs. George Robinson and three other bouts, Commercial A.C., Boston, Friday night.

THE INTERWORKS BOWLING LEAGUE

The Lowell and Manchester sides of the Interworks Bowling league rolled a spirited draw on the local alleys Saturday evening. A young woman's quintet, which accompanied the visitors, had little difficulty in handling the Indian sign on a team of local girls. Following the matches the party enjoyed a splendid supper at the Harrisonia hotel. The scores:

The Call'em

Brown 7, Dartmouth 6; Princeton 13, Yale 6; Syracuse 13, Colgate 6; Harvard 23, Tufts 0. Those were the scores which stand out prominently as the 1919 football season rose to its anti-climax Saturday. A mere glance at the figures produces a violent mental shock and from some standpoints, a staggering blow. But the figures do not lie, they place victory over against vanquished and remain as indisputable facts throughout hours of abili passing a preponderance of "ifs."

In every athletic contest upon time is no more that tricky little deception "if" will raise Old Ned. It is partial solace to the defeated, who cling to it as they would clutch at a rope in deep water to save themselves, from absolute and total immersion. All Dartmouth says today: "If Jim Robertson had been in there, our slate still would be 'clean' and Yale looks back and sighs and says: "If that foolish lateral pass had not been attempted, the Tiger would have bowed to the Bull Dog."

Stronger In Defeat
However, despite the knowledge of the fallacy of falling back upon "ifs," and knowing that whatever may be said now cannot alter the figures one fraction, Dartmouth men who watched their team lose to Brown at Harvard, simply will not resign themselves to the belief that the better team won. The better eleven was the one which scored, but not in actual play. Pretty well burned out after a scientific schedule the eleven from Harvard showed the effects of Pennsylvania's hammering and the stupor of defeat for that victory could not be made up against the husky Providence team in the season's last game. But weakened as Spears' team was, it was infinitely stronger than

The Ace In The Hole

On the bench, his right leg stretched straight out ahead of him, a green blanket over his shoulders and a pair of crutches at his side, sat Jim Robertson, the man who could have won for Dartmouth Saturday. He would have saved the pennant just as surely as the sun rises and sets again, but he could not. Fate decreed that he should endure mental pain along with his physical ills and the good right foot and hotline too which would have driven back the brown-jerseyed titans from Rhode Island could do nothing but itch for the opportunity which was not to be. As a punter and goal kicker, Robertson flashed like a kohlhorn all year until cut down by Pennsylvania and his broken leg sounded Dartmouth's death knell.

Foraken By Miss Fortune
But, with Robertson out and Jordan but little use, the Green waved high above the Brown in actual accomplishment from whistle to whistle. Dartmouth's substitute backs ripped the Brown line to shreds and then turned about and stopped the latter's offense with a wall of steel. The realities set them back, luck turned against them with fearful coldness. Dartmouth flurried with the men on the other side and the Green was rewarded for the first time this year. A Brown lineman, captain of his team, broke through and blocked a kick which was gotten away with fatal slowness. Nine times out of ten the ball would have struck his chest and bounded away, but this once it shot back into his stomach, was followed there just long enough for sweeping arms to fall and hold it close and with no man between him and the goal the 20 yards away, the touchdown was made and the goal, which spelled victory, was kicked.

The Spirit of Years

In spite of the poor and awkward arrangement of seats for a football game at Brown's field the rival cheer sections rose to dizzy heights. The spirit was typical of any game Dartmouth plays. Undergraduates and alumni stuck to their team to the end and then rose and gave it their benediction. Brown stood on the field and listened and then responded in kind. Complimentary cheers were given and the curtain were drawn until next year.

INDIANS ENDS WIN

The Indian second football eleven defeated the Cardinal club Sunday afternoon on the old Fair grounds by the score of 13 to 6. Both Indian scores came as the result of straight line plunging, while the Cardinal touchdowns grew out of a recovered fumble.

NEGROES AS CENSUS TAKERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Negroes will be engaged as federal census takers in sections where they form the largest element of the population for the first time in history, Arthur G. Doro, United States supervisor of census announced today. Preference will be given to negroes who were in the military service.

Mr. Doro said the representative negroes had informed him that there had never been an accurate counting of the negroes in this country. This is due, they complained, to the fact that white enumerators classified as "white" those negro men and women of light color.

MATRIMONIAL

A pretty marriage took place this morning when Mr. Emile T. Gendreau and Miss Blanche Yvonne Alexander, two well known young residents of this city were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed at a private nuptial mass celebrated in the chapel of St. Joseph's rectory at 9 o'clock by an uncle of the bride, Rev. C. Victor Choquette, pastor of St. Joseph's church, Brockton.

The bride wore white georgette crepe with beaded trimmings and she also wore a veil caught up with lilies of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. The bridegroom was attended by his father, Mr. George Gendreau, while the bride was given away by her uncle, J. Walter Alexander. At the close of the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Henri Alexander, 197 White street. Later the happy couple who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts left on a honeymoon trip to New York, Hartford, Conn., Boston and Quincy and upon their return they will make their home at 197 White st.

LOWELL PUT UP GOOD FIGHT BUT LOST

The Lowell high school football team accomplished its best effort of the season on Saturday when it held the big Haverhill eleven to a 6 to 0 score. Outweighed anywhere from 20 to 30 pounds to a man, Conway's team played courageous football through all four periods, and showed an offense at times which sent a chill through the Haverhill supporters.

The game was played in the Haverhill stadium before a large crowd. Superior line and backfield weight told the tale for Lowell in the second period when Haverhill pushed over for its lone score. The local boys fought them to a standstill in the second half, but lacked the strength to put over a touchdown.

Coach Conway saw much in the game to be thankful for. The eleven showed an ever-increasing store of football knowledge, attacked brilliantly in the face of great odds and oftentimes charged into the play so fiercely as to elicit Haverhill's best formations. A week ago Haverhill defeated Lawrence, 24 to 7, which should be a good omen for the Lowell-Lawrence game Thanksgiving day morning at Springfield. Haverhill high school played next Saturday as a preliminary work-out to the big game on the 27th.

TODAY'S FIRES

Blaze in Garage in Parkview Avenue

At 9:24 o'clock this morning a telephone alarm summoned a portion of the fire department to the garage of Francis Qua at 328 Parkview avenue, for a blaze on the second floor of the building, which is being used as a billiard room. When the firemen reached the premises some of the burning sheathing had dropped on an automobile below owned by a Mr. Cawley, and before the fire was put out the top of the car was wrecked. The damage to the building was not great.

At 7:02 o'clock there was a telephone alarm for a blaze in baled paper and burlap bags in the shed of S. Rosenfeld at 46 Apple street, but the fire was put out before the firemen reached the premises. The damage is not great.

SENTENCED TO THE STATE REFORMATORY

Andrew Whalen of Providence, the young man who admitted that he had planned to kill his employer, Edward Russell, a travelling photographer, when he was arraigned recently on a charge of breaking and entering Mr. Russell's room on Appleton street, was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory in police court today. He appealed and was held in $500.

When Whalen was first arraigned he admitted that he had planned to do away with his boss and steal the latter's "roll." Then he was going to leave the house by means of a rope of bed sheets attached to his bed room window and "beat it for Boston." When Whalen was arraigned, Mr. Russell's room the latter was away and the youth found nothing of value in the room. Later he was arraigned.

Assault and Battery
Found guilty of assault and battery on a local storekeeper, Isaac Hill was fined $30. According to the testimony Hill went into the store early Saturday evening and gave the proprietor a bad beating.

ELUSIVE WIDOW ON GOLDEN TOUR

The elusive widow has started on her golden tour of Lowell's leading stores and her trip bids fair to be a great opportunity for those ambitious persons looking for her because—well a widow's only a widow but a gold piece is real hard cash.

For the benefit of those who have not been informed of the widow's travels this information will be in handy: To the first person in each store who approaches the young lady, assuming the role of the widow, with the question, "Are you the widow by proxy?" will be presented a $250 gold piece. The next five in order to ask her the same question will each be given an order for two tickets to the Merrimack Square Theatre.

As to the description of the widow—that's the secret—the only sure method of finding her is to ask every and any woman you see in the designated stores the question, "Are you the widow by proxy?" The result may be a prize for you if you ask her first.

This afternoon she will be at Cherry & Webb's from 3 to 5 p. m. Tonight the Union Market will welcome her between the hours of 7 and 9.

"Advising all my Friends to Use Internal Baths"

Miss Ella May Allen of 3716 Central St., Kansas City, Mo., writes to the Lowell Sun: "I have received your letter showing me the 'J. B. L. Cascade' and I am most interested in it. In my opinion it is wonderful and should be in every home."

"I am doing a lot of talking for it and my friends are all interested." "The 'J. B. L. Cascade' cleanses the lower intestine, its entire length and keeps it always free of poisonous waste. Thousands testify that Constipation, Indigestion, Stomach Troubles, Malaria, Headaches and all the many serious troubles which they cause are absolutely relieved and prevented by this Nature's Bath."

LET "DANDERINE" SAVE YOUR HAIR

Get rid of every bit of that ugly dandruff and stop falling hair

A little "Danderine" cools, cleanses and makes the feverish, itchy scalp soft and pliable; then this stimulating tonic penetrates to the hair roots, revitalizing and invigorating every hair in the head, thus stopping the hair falling out, getting thin, scraggly or falling.

After a few applications of "Danderine" you seldom and a fallen hair or a particle of dandruff, besides every hair shows more life, vigor, brightness, color and thickness.

A few cents buys a bottle of delightful "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter.—Adv.

PLEA FOR HIGHER SALARY

Teacher Presents Strong Arguments for Increase to Meet Pressing Needs

The following communication in behalf of the teachers of Lowell is self-explanatory:
Editor Sun: The matter of higher salaries is of more than interest to the pupil, the community, the nation than to the teachers themselves. Previously, the ethics of the profession kept the teachers silent on this side of the question, but the situation is so serious at present, they feel compelled to speak.

In 1917 and 1918 the teachers in the primary and grammar schools of Lowell were paid $500 on entering, reaching the maximum of $900 in 10 years. Thus after a two-year course in the Normal, the two years teaching in Lowell, before qualifying to enter Lowell, ten years reaching the maximum, a young woman could earn $900, 14 years after graduating from high school.

During the war, teachers thought it unpatriotic to urge their claim for a living wage, and impoverished themselves to serve their country. At the close of the war many left the profession to earn a living.

On Jan. 1, 1919, the present schedule went into effect. The minimum salary of $600, with a maximum of $900, seven years. Kindergarten teachers receive a minimum of $600, maximum of $750 in four years.

In 1918 the cost of living has advanced 72 per cent; the purchasing power of a dollar now is 37.5, so the salary of $1050 has a purchasing power of $625, thus ten years after leaving school, the teacher today finds herself in the following predicament under the most favorable circumstances:

Salary, $1050; $54 for pension... $1036
Board and lodging... 52
Laundry... 25
Church... 25
Charity... 25
Carfare... 30
Savings... 100
Clothing... 200

Total... $1113
Since this is based on actual figures in Lowell it is difficult to tell how far out our old clothes, and must replace them at present prices. A teacher who gives nothing, and saves nothing would be worth the respect of her pupils. One teacher, forced to break up her home, paid last year her salary for rent of her home and also, with heat, coal and gas, $35 a month. Another, boarding, paid 50 per cent of her salary for board and lodging, and laundry. The teachers on $1050 minus $35 compulsory deduction for pension, which they must pay for 40 years to realize upon, waive details, as they wish to keep the respect of their pupils. It is sufficient to say that some of them are waiting, $35 a month a day, carrying a lunch insufficient to supply a teacher's necessary vitality, to earn $1036 a week. Girls leaving school this year, in sixth grade have earned more and, in some cases, have not failed to tell their teachers this.

Are the parents of Lowell willing that their teachers' best energies should be thus wasted? Do they think a teacher harassed by financial difficulties, discontented because her services are unappreciated, capable of her best efforts? Will they continue to end each year with a deficit, though we eliminate amusement, books, self betterment, doctors, dentists, oculists? We think we think the parents of Lowell willing and ready to support the schools of Lowell and uphold a wage that shall insure efficient teachers.

A TEACHER.

DISCUSS STATUS OF GERMAN SHIPS HERE

PARIS, Nov. 17.—The status of the Imperial and other German ships aggregating 170,000 tons, now in possession of the United States, was discussed by the supreme council today.

Great Britain has claimed that the action of the United States shipping board in retaining the vessels was a distinct violation of the agreement in the supreme council that these steamers should be turned over to the British as soon as they had finished transporting American troops. The British representatives today explained that England was crowded with men from the colonies eager to return to their homes in various parts of the world but whose return is being delayed because the United States is retaining possession of the German ships in New York harbor.

The council took no action on the subject at today's session. The council decided that the oil tank steamers Germany is now surrendering should be taken to the Fifth of North and entrusted to the guardianship of Great Britain.

Be sure to vote tomorrow. Polls open from 12 noon to 8 p. m.

LEGAL NOTICES

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court within and for the County of Middlesex:
Respectfully I submit and represent Helen D. Blanchard of Lowell, in said County, that she was lawfully married to Ralph E. Blanchard, now of parts unknown, at Dedham, Norfolk County, Massachusetts, on the seventh day of May, A. D. 1916, and thereafter her husband lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth, to wit, at Scituate, in the County of Plymouth, and said Commonwealth, and at said Lowell, that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations, but the said Ralph E. Blanchard, being wholly regardless of the same, at said Lowell, on or about the fourth day of April, 1919, and on every other day and times was guilty of cruelly and abusive treatment towards your libellant.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony made between her and the said Ralph E. Blanchard be decreed by the Superior Court, and that the care and custody of their minor child, Ruth E. Blanchard, born May 1, 1917, be committed to her and that she be allowed her reasonable expenses, and that she be allowed her reasonable expenses, and that she be allowed her reasonable expenses.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this fifth day of November, in the year one thousand nine hundred and nineteen.

George H. Allard, Jr., Attorney.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court within and for the County of Middlesex:
Respectfully I submit and represent Annie M. Walsh, alias Johanna Walsh, of Lowell, in said County, that she was lawfully married to John J. Walsh, now of Calais, France, at Tallow, County of Waterford, Ireland, on the twenty-fourth day of January, A. D. 1905, and thereafter her husband lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth, to wit, at Lowell, in the County of Middlesex, and in Lowell, Massachusetts; that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations, but the said John J. Walsh, being wholly regardless of the same, at Lowell, has contracted gross and confirmed habits of intoxication, caused by the voluntary and excessive use of intoxicating liquor.

Wherefore your libellant further represents that she has been born of this marriage three children, who are still living, and whose names and respective dates of birth are as follows:

John J. Walsh, December 5, 1902.
Margaret Walsh, June 1, 1905.
John J. Walsh, February 10, 1908.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony made between her and the said John J. Walsh be decreed by the Superior Court, and that the care and custody of said minor children be given to your libellant during the life of the residence of the libellee as set out in the libel, that he may then and there show cause, if he may have any prayer in said libel set forth should not be granted.

Dated this twenty-seventh day of October, A. D. 1919.

WOMAN TAKES PART IN MAYORALTY CAMPAIGN

The entrance of woman into politics has been a subject of more or less discussion for the past few years, but not until last Saturday evening were male voters of Lowell given an opportunity for a real live exhibition of woman's part in a local mayoralty campaign.

It was at Bridge and Palge streets, about 9.15, when former Mayor James E. O'Donnell was making his closing outdoor address of the evening that the feminine in Lowell politics became an actual vigorous reality. Mr. O'Donnell had been discussing local liquor dealers and told his large audience that he had not been given co-operation in the latter part of 1917 when he was trying to enforce the liquor laws so that soldiers from Camp Devens might be permitted to visit Lowell.

Just then an automobile drew up near where the candidate was speaking, a well-dressed woman stepped from it and in an angry mood made for the candidate's machine in which he was standing and gave indications of "meaning business" when 1. Sgt. David Petrie and other members of the police department came upon the scene and succeeded in having her go on her way. Then Mr. O'Donnell continued his speech.

It was a great night for outdoor speeches and the candidates were heard by large crowds.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

The county commissioners held their regular monthly meeting at the court house this morning. There were no hearings held but a group of lawyers requested the commissioners to install a telephone and booth in the record hall. The matter was taken in consideration.

CITY OF LOWELL

Notice to Male and Female Voters.

All persons claiming the right to vote at the coming city election, and desiring to be registered as voters are hereby notified to appear before the Board of Registrars of Voters to present evidence of their qualifications at the session to be held as follows, to wit:

At the room of the Board of Registrars of Voters in the basement of City Hall, Wednesday, Nov. 19th, from 12 o'clock noon to 10 o'clock. Women whose maiden names appear on the voting lists and who by marriage have changed their names should re-register.

I Respectfully Ask Your Support

At the close of this campaign, I can truthfully say I have tried to present to you my qualifications and my reasons for aspiring to the office of commissioner.

Charged with youth and inexperience, I submitted my record of 19 years, with Putnam & Son Co., attaining the managership.

I would remind my opponent also that Uncle Sam, in the trying days of his country, did not consider youth a barrier to the performance of public service.

Asserting, once again, that the perpetual candidate is a menace to good government I ask you to endorse as your policy, "The Open Door of Opportunity."

Alderman

TO THE VOTERS OF LOWELL:

I desire to make a final request for your vote at the polls tomorrow for the office of ALDERMAN.

During my whole career in public life I have always stood for fair, upright and honest business dealing in the City's behalf. I can give assurance that the same quality of service rendered by me for the City in the past will mark my service in the future.

In all my public acts I was ever prompted by an honest purpose to do that which I believed to be the right; and it is with confidence that I say that no smirch or stain has marred my political career of my service to the people while in office.

At all times I have ever been ready to advance the best interests of my city and its people.

The time I have spent in the public service was devoted to the purpose of advancing the welfare of the people, and that service has qualified me by experience to render you a service that will be of benefit to the City.

JOHN J.

GILBRIDE

CANDIDATE FOR

MAYOR

TO THE VOTERS OF LOWELL:

As a candidate for the nomination for my native city, for the past ten days, I have gone before the people to discuss matters of interest to the average citizen. All the other candidates for this office, except one, have done the same.

This perennial candidate, who has offered himself for mayor every year for twelve years when there has been a mayoralty election has devoted much of his public utterances to personal abuse and vilification of me. He has given no reason why he seeks, year after year, to hold the office of Mayor. He has offered no words of defense of his first administration, at the close of which he was driven from office by the largest adverse majority in the history of the city. He has offered no explanation why, under his administration, the city continually advanced closer to the debt limit and each year saw increased taxes.

He has given no reason why, during his four years at City Hall, he was in bitter antagonism of other members of the city government.

Instead, with rank unfairness, realizing that his own nomination is impossible and that mine is certain, he seeks to produce conditions to make my election impossible after I secure the nomination.

His personal attacks upon me have been utterly baseless and of a scandalous nature.

In the primaries two years ago I defeated this gentleman by over 400 votes and he has not forgotten it. With the support of fair-minded people of the city of Lowell, on Tuesday I will defeat him so decisively that he will be eliminated from the politics of the city, and in the years to come others besides this gentleman may aspire to public office in Lowell.

JOHN J. GILBRIDE,
9 Prospect Street, Lowell, Mass.

City Primaries

is entitled to vote for only one, if he votes for two mayoralty candidates his ballot will be thrown out. Similarly he must vote for only two aldermanic candidates and two candidates for the school committee. Women voters are entitled to vote only for school committee candidates.

The retiring officers this year are Mayor Perry D. Thompson, Commissioners James E. Donnelly and Charles J. Morse and Richard Brahmack Walsh and Dr. William R. Thompson, members of the school board. Messrs. Thompson, Donnelly and Morse are candidates for re-election. The retiring school board members are not.

The campaign preceding the primaries has been a brief but lively one, especially among the mayoralty aspirants. Mayor Thompson has not appeared on the stump, but John J. Donovan, John Gilbride, Hon. James E. O'Donnell and Jackson Palmer, the four other candidates, have all made a number of outdoor speeches and were on the job every noon and evening last week. On Saturday evening the largest crowds of the campaign gathered at city hall, Tower's corner and Bridge and Palge streets to hear the statements of the four aspirants.

Several of the aldermanic candidates have appeared on the stump but the majority of them have confined their efforts to personal interviews with the voters. There are ten candidates in this field.

The 12 school board candidates have also limited their efforts to personal solicitation in most instances.

The largest registration for a municipal primaries in the city's history has been enrolled this year, more than 17,000 residents being entitled to vote. It is expected that this unusually large registration will bring out a heavy vote. The mayoralty candidates have created a lot of interest during the past week and the advent of a number of new faces in the other contests will mean many supporters at the polls.

The list of candidates for various offices follows:

For mayor—John J. Donovan, John J. Gilbride, James E. O'Donnell, Jackson Palmer, Perry D. Thompson.

For alderman—George H. Brown, Daniel Cosgrove, John B. Curtin, Cornelius Desmond, Jr., James E. Donnelly, Charles J. Morse, Michael J. Quinn, John F. Salmon, Eugene F. Toomey, Francis A. Warnock.

For school committee—William H. Allen, Thomas B. Delaney, Raymond J. Lavalle, James E. Lyle, Charles C. Mackenzie, James E. Markham, Parker F. Murphy, James H. Rooney, Jas. C. Warner, Fred C. Weld, George F. Wessen, Arthur F. Woodies.

UNION MADE HAND MADE

For Alderman

EUGENE F. TOOMEY

A Public Record of Efficiency That Should Inspire Confidence

and Support

TO THE VOTERS OF LOWELL:

I am a candidate for alderman at the primaries Tuesday. My public service in past years is the consideration upon which I ask you to judge of my fitness and capacity for the office I seek. Have served on the school committee in the years 1907-8-9-10, and in the legislature in the years 1911-12-13.

I do not think you are impressed with a candidate who loudly proclaims "everybody" and "everything" at fault, but himself, and whose personal qualifications are based upon questionable criticism.

I simply wish to say to you, in support of my candidacy, that I have an intimate knowledge of public affairs, that I have discharged public duty in the past CREDITABLY and EFFICIENTLY, and feel confident of satisfying you in the performance of public duty again. I respectfully ask you for your support, and an opportunity to serve you as an alderman of the city next year.

Very truly yours,

EUGENE F. TOOMEY,
Lawrence Street

(Adv.)
